Pueblo Commander Tells Of Terror

SEOUL (AP) — North Korea freed the surviving 82 crewmen of the U.S. intelligence ship Pueblo today, and they were being given medical checkups at a hospital near Seoul before flying to rejoin their families in San Diego, Calif.

The Pueblo's skipper, Cmdr. Lloyd M. Bucher, told a news conference that he and his men in the two weeks before their release were subjected to "the most concentrated form of terror that I've ever seen or dreamed is possible."

Crewmen Beaten

Bucher said about half his crew were beaten badly last week and that many of them still had blackened eyes and bruised ribs.

Bucher added that he thought many in his crew were in "very bad physical condition" from malnutrition. "The bruises and that sort of thing are going to heal up very quickly," he said.

A U.S. military spokesman in Seoul said he did not know how soon the Pueblo men would leave for the United States. But it was thought here they might leave Tuesday.

The spokesman said there were no immediate plans to let the men talk to their families by telephone from Korea.

To win the release of the men after 11 months of captivity, a U.S. representative at the armistice hut in Panmunjom signed a statement apologizing for "the grave acts of espionage committed by the U.S. ship . . . after having intruded into the territorial waters of the Democratic People's Republic of Korea." But first he repudiated the statement and said he was signing it only to free the ship's crew, a procedure to which the North Koreans agreed.

Skipper Relates Capture

Bucher also told his news conference that at no time did the Pueblo sail within 13 miles of North Korea, let alone inside the 12-mile limit set by the North Korean government.

"The day we were captured we were some 15 to 16 miles from shore when the North Korean ships showed up and began their harassment tactics," he said.

"I surrendered the ship because it was nothing but a slaughter out there and I couldn't see allowing any more people to be slaughtered or killing the entire crew for no reason."

Four men were wounded when the Pueblo was captured, and one later died.

The Pueblo, a former Army cargo ship equipped with advanced electronic detection equipment, remained in North Korea. The Communists said it had been confiscated and would not be returned.

Crewmen Evacuated

Army helicopters, each carrying 10 crewmen, took the men to the U.S. 121st Evacuation Hospital at Ascom City, 10 miles outside Seoul, from a U.S. advanced base just south of the demilitarized zone where Bucher gave his interview.

As the helicopters landed, an Army band played "California Here I Come," and medics hustled the men into the hospital building.

The government was flying the families of many of the men to San Diego for a Christmas reunion, but questioning of the crewmen may continue for weeks after that.

Bridge Crossed

A light snow was falling as Bucher and his men walked across a concrete bridge into the southern half of the demilitarized zone at 11:30 a.m. Korean time.

They carried with them a coffin containing the remains of Fireman Duane H. Hodges, 22, of Creswell, Ore., the crew member who died in North Korea after being wounded during the ship's capture off Wonsan by four Communist gunboats on Jan. 23.

Bucher came first over the bridge, accompanied as far as the boundary line at the U.N. Command side by about eight North Korean observers.

The slow procession of men over the bridge took slightly more than a half hour and was accompanied by propaganda broadcasts over North Korean loudspeakers. Two tape recordings, which sounded like Bucher's voice, were replayed continuously confessing "crimes" against North Korea, apologizing for them and telling the North Koreans "thank you very much from the bottom of our hearts" for lenient treatment.

From the distance at which newsmen were kept, none of the men appeared seriously hurt. They strode over the bridge deliberately. Some ran to the helicopters from the bus that took them to the landing pad.

Smiles For Newsmen

"I can't begin to tell you how happy my crew is to see this side of the line that divides this country in two," said Bucher, who also smiled and waved as he entered his news conference.

The 41-year-old Pueblo skipper, with his gray hair in a short crew cut, shed his North Korean clothes for a Blue U.S. Navy casual outfit, with "Bucher, U.S. Navy" and "Pueblo" marked on the jacket.

"We were attacked on the open seas and captured on the open seas," Bucher told the newsmen. "All records we had

Lamantias Go To San Diego

Happy Area Residents Fly To Yule Reunion With Son

"I am so excited, so glad," Betsy Lamantia, 19-year-old sister of Pueblo crewman Electronics Technician 2C Tony Lamantia of Toronto, exclaimed this morning.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Lamantia of 903 Daniels St., Toronto, were en route by plane to San Diego, where they expect to meet their son some time Tuesday evening after he and the 81 other members of the freed crew returned to the U.S.

The family received a call from a Capt. Hobbs of the Navy in Washington Sunday morning about 2:35 advising them of the release of the crew.

BETSY, a student at Florida Institute of Electronics at Weirton, said her mother answered the phone, and she heard her exclaim, "Oh, thank you, Capt. Hobbs." Betsy said she knew the long - awaited good news had arrived.

A Navy officer took her parents to Greater Pittsburgh Airport, where they were to board a plane for the West Coast.

The four young Lamantias remaining at home will spend Christmas without their parents who are to stay in California for about a week. They are Paul, 15, Jimmy, 9, and Phillip, 7, a first-grade student. A sister, JoAnn, is a nun teaching in Detroit.

TONY LAMANTIA

Betsy said she and her brothers will have the company of relatives for Christmas, and that spending the holiday without their parents and brother is no disappointment in the great happiness of knowing Tony is safe and on his way home.

—:—

SEAMAN Lamantia, 22, who attended St. Francis elementary school and was graduated from Steubenville Central Catholic High School in 1964, entered the Navy in September that year.

He attended communications school in Florida and was assigned to Guam for 18 months then sent to Bremerton, Wash., where he joined the crew of the newly - commissioned USS Pueblo.

The Pueblo sailed for Japan in November 1966. He received further training at Fuchu Air Force Base and in a Jan. 3 letter to his family Tony reported the ship was headed for Sasbo, adding, "Don't worry if you don't hear from me for awhile."

THEY DIDN'T. On Jan. 24 they were advised by the Navy the Pueblo was in custody of North Korea and their son was a prisoner.

Mrs. Lamantia and her husband, an employe of the Wheeling Steel Co. plant at Steubenville, anxiously waited and prayed for the safety of their son, receiving a few cryptic letters from him.

But today, they were headed for a happy reunion, one which would give them, the whole family and all their friends and relatives at Toronto the happiest Christmas ever.

Historic Moon Orbit Near For Astronauts On Apollo

By HOWARD BENEDICT
AP Aerospace Writer

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The daring explorers of Apollo 8 hurtled deeper into uncharted regions of space today, racing toward a climactic moment when they are captured by the gravity field of the moon, their Christmas Eve target.

That moment, when man for the first time will be in the gravity grasp of another heavenly body, comes at 3:29 p.m. EST today when Apollo 8 is 202,700 miles from earth and about 34,500 miles from the moon.

The tug of the moon will increase Apollo 8's speed, and the three astronauts will sweep toward their historic lunar orbit. A burst from their spaceship engine at 5:01 a.m. Tuesday will swing them into orbit just 69 miles above the surface.

No Physical Change

There will be no physical change to alert Air Force Col. Frank Borman, Navy Capt. James A. Lovell Jr., and Air Force Maj. William A. Anders that they have passed through a gravity "barrier" in space.

Borman, in fact, plans to be asleep, and Lovell and Anders are to be stowing their camera after completing a second television show from Apollo 8.

The area is called the "equigravisphere," where the pull of earth's gravity and that of the moon are equal.

Apollo 8, which started the trip toward the moon at earth escape speed of 24,196 miles per hour, has slowed gradually like an automobile coasting uphill to slightly more than 2,200 m.p.h.

The moon's tug increases this over a period of several hours to amost 5,800 m.p.h. If allowed to continue at this speed, Borman, Lovell and Anders would hook once around the backside with sufficient velocity to swing back toward earth.

Orbit, Maneuver

But the braking effect of the engine firing will prevent the flyby and inject Apollo 8 into an orbit which the astronauts are to fly for 20 hours on Christmas Eve and early Christmas Day.

There were a few anxious moments Sunday, second day of the mission, that the astronauts might have to be called back—or, at best, make only a quick flyaround the moon and come home.

The problem was illness reported by all three crewmen. Borman was in the worst condition, suffering from what he diagnosed as a "24-hour flu, intestinal flu."

The spacecraft commander said he vomited, had diarrhea, chills and headaches during the early morning hours Sunday. But after resting he reported he was much better.

Lovell and Anders both said they weren't feeling up to par. Doctors were worried they would contract Borman's malady, and the mission control center considered shortening the mission.

Extra Sleep Provided

Flight controllers shuffled the flight plan to give the astronauts extra sleeping time, and by today all three men were feeling quite good.

"We're all in fine shape up here," Borman reported.

Ski Mask Bandit Hits Here Twice

Striking twice in less than three hours, a bandit who disguised his face with a ski mask robbed two men of $109 in a downtown service station Sunday night and took $75 at gunpoint from a diner early this morning, police reported.

Hitting first at the Humble Oil Co. station at E. 3rd St. and Broadway, the brawny gunman took $100 from Robert Mills of 1347 Sunnyside Ave., an employe, and $9 from Charles Martin of 1001 Ambrose Ave., a visitor at the station, and then fled on foot south through Farmers Alley toward E. 2nd St.

SAIGON (AP) — The Communist command launched a series of heavy attacks across South Vietnam during the weekend preceding the start tonight of its three-day Christmas cease-fire.

The heaviest fighting, often at hand-to-hand range with mortars and rockets falling on American troops at the rate of 100 a minute, raged only six miles from the truce site where U.S. and Viet Cong representatives are to meet Christmas Day to discuss the release of three American prisoners.

A force of 1,500 freshly equipped North Vietnamese soldiers stormed out of Cambodia Sunday morning and lost at least 103 dead and a huge pile of weapons and ammunition in a six-hour attack on an American patrol base 44 miles northwest of Saigon.

The U.S. infantrymen, in deep bunkers but outnumbered by about three-to-one, reported 17 of their men killed and 12 wounded. Appeal Filed By Boyce In Home Dispute

LISBON — Robert Boyce, acting superintendent of the Columbiana County Home, has appealed his suspension by the county commissioners to the Department of State Personnel board of review.

Acting superintendent since October 1965 when another board of commissioners dismissed Supt. Russell Phillis, Boyce said the appeal is to be heard some time before Jan. 20.

Commissioners Charles J. Gause and James W. Boyd signed the suspension order Dec. 16. It charges Boyce with incompetency, inefficiency and neglect of duties. Discovery of two dead cows and a calf from the beef herd precipitated the action. Boyd has been critical of the County Home farming operation since Boyce was appointed.

The six-month suspension will begin at noon Jan. 1.

Boyce said the suspension order he received Dec. 17 by registered mail included a notice he is to vacate the premises at noon Jan. 1.

Mrs. Gladys Boyce, the superintendent's wife, will continue as home matron.

Boyce said Phillis stayed on at the home after his dismissal since his wife, Betty, was matron, and he intends to do the same.

He said several representatives of different organizations have offered to testify at the hearing about the care of residents and patients in the home hospital.

But today, they were headed for a happy reunion, one which would give them, the whole family and all their friends and relatives at Toronto the happiest Christmas ever.

SEOUL (AP) — North Korea freed the surviving 82 crewmen of the U.S. intelligence ship Pueblo today, and they were being given medical checkups at a hospital near Seoul before flying to rejoin their families in San Diego, Calif.

The Pueblo's skipper, Cmdr. Lloyd M. Bucher, told a news conference that he and his men in the two weeks before their release were subjected to "the most concentrated form of terror that I've ever seen or dreamed is possible."

Crewmen Beaten

Bucher said about half his crew were beaten badly last week and that many of them still had blackened eyes and bruised ribs.

Bucher added that he thought many in his crew were in "very bad physical condition" from malnutrition. "The bruises and that sort of thing are going to heal up very quickly," he said.

A U.S. military spokesman in Seoul said he did not know how soon the Pueblo men would leave for the United States. But it was thought here they might leave Tuesday.

The spokesman said there were no immediate plans to let the men talk to their families by telephone from Korea.

To win the release of the men after 11 months of captivity, a U.S. representative at the armistice hut in Panmunjom signed a statement apologizing for "the grave acts of espionage committed by the U.S. ship . . . after having intruded into the territorial waters of the Democratic People's Republic of Korea." But first he repudiated the statement and said he was signing it only to free the ship's crew, a procedure to which the North Koreans agreed.

Skipper Relates Capture

Bucher also told his news conference that at no time did the Pueblo sail within 13 miles of North Korea, let alone inside the 12-mile limit set by the North Korean government.

"The day we were captured we were some 15 to 16 miles from shore when the North Korean ships showed up and began their harassment tactics," he said.

"I surrendered the ship because it was nothing but a slaughter out there and I couldn't see allowing any more people to be slaughtered or killing the entire crew for no reason."

Four men were wounded when the Pueblo was captured, and one later died.

The Pueblo, a former Army cargo ship equipped with advanced electronic detection equipment, remained in North Korea. The Communists said it had been confiscated and would not be returned.

Crewmen Evacuated

Army helicopters, each carrying 10 crewmen, took the men to the U.S. 121st Evacuation Hospital at Ascom City, 10 miles outside Seoul, from a U.S. advanced base just south of the demilitarized zone where Bucher gave his interview.

As the helicopters landed, an Army band played "California Here I Come," and medics hustled the men into the hospital building.

The government was flying the families of many of the men to San Diego for a Christmas reunion, but questioning of the crewmen may continue for weeks after that.

Bridge Crossed

A light snow was falling as Bucher and his men walked across a concrete bridge into the southern half of the demilitarized zone at 11:30 a.m. Korean time.

They carried with them a coffin containing the remains of Fireman Duane H. Hodges, 22, of Creswell, Ore., the crew member who died in North Korea after being wounded during the ship's capture off Wonsan by four Communist gunboats on Jan. 23.

Bucher came first over the bridge, accompanied as far as the boundary line at the U.N. Command side by about eight North Korean observers.

The slow procession of men over the bridge took slightly more than a half hour and was accompanied by propaganda broadcasts over North Korean loudspeakers. Two tape recordings, which sounded like Bucher's voice, were replayed continuously confessing "crimes" against North Korea, apologizing for them and telling the North Koreans "thank you very much from the bottom of our hearts" for lenient treatment.

From the distance at which newsmen were kept, none of the men appeared seriously hurt. They strode over the bridge deliberately. Some ran to the helicopters from the bus that took them to the landing pad.

Smiles For Newsmen

"I can't begin to tell you how happy my crew is to see this side of the line that divides this country in two," said Bucher, who also smiled and waved as he entered his news conference.

The 41-year-old Pueblo skipper, with his gray hair in a short crew cut, shed his North Korean clothes for a Blue U.S. Navy casual outfit, with "Bucher, U.S. Navy" and "Pueblo" marked on the jacket.

"We were attacked on the open seas and captured on the open seas," Bucher told the newsmen. "All records we had

Windy, Colder, Snow; That's Area Outlook

There is a possibility that Christmas may have a touch of "white."

The forecast calls for mostly cloudy, windy and colder with snow flurries today, tonight and Tuesday, although at this point there is no mention of snow on Wednesday itself.

Of Christmas Day, the forecast says, "Partly cloudy and not quite so cold."

Temperatures will average below normal Tuesday through Saturday, with highs in the 30s and lows in the teens and 20s.

Appeal Filed By Boyce In Home Dispute

LISBON — Robert Boyce, acting superintendent of the Columbiana County Home, has appealed his suspension by the county commissioners to the Department of State Personnel board of review.

Acting superintendent since October 1965 when another board of commissioners dismissed Supt. Russell Phillis, Boyce said the appeal is to be heard some time before Jan. 20.

Commissioners Charles J. Gause and James W. Boyd signed the suspension order Dec. 16. It charges Boyce with incompetency, inefficiency and neglect of duties. Discovery of two dead cows and a calf from the beef herd precipitated the action. Boyd has been critical of the County Home farming operation since Boyce was appointed.

The six-month suspension will begin at noon Jan. 1.

Boyce said the suspension order he received Dec. 17 by registered mail included a notice he is to vacate the premises at noon Jan. 1.

Mrs. Gladys Boyce, the superintendent's wife, will continue as home matron.

Boyce said Phillis stayed on at the home after his dismissal since his wife, Betty, was matron, and he intends to do the same.

He said several representatives of different organizations have offered to testify at the hearing about the care of residents and patients in the home hospital.

Car Demolishes Porch

City Officers Investigate 3 Hit-Skip Auto Accidents

Three hit-skip accidents marred East Liverpool's weekend traffic, including an incident Sunday in which the porch on a home was demolished.

The hit-and-run vehicle destroyed a small wooden porch Sunday at 2:18 p.m. at the home of Wanda Hile of 154 Pennsylvania Ave.

The woman told police the porch was "torn to pieces" by the impact, but the car continued without stopping. It was a 1960 or 1961 Pontiac or Oldsmobile finished with gray primer paint, she told officers.

Melvin E. Carson of Steubenville said the left side of his 1966 sedan was damaged by a hit-skip vehicle while parked at E. 3rd St. and Apple Alley Sunday morning.

A Hancock County woman's auto was damaged on the left side in a hit-skip collision Sunday at 2:46 a. m. on a Dresden Ave. curve north of W. 9th St.

Ruby V. Apple, 55, of Chester RD 1 told police she was driving south about 30 miles an hour when an oncoming car went left of the center line, struck her auto and did not stop.

A COLLISION Sunday at 2:07 p.m. at Vine St. and Ambrose Ave. damaged a 1954 auto driven by Janet Conley, 23, of 334 Thompson Ave. and a 1968 model car driven by Doris Talbott, 37, of 1941 Cook St., officers said.

The Conley car was moving north on Vine and the Talbott auto was proceeding east on Ambrose. There was damage to the left front of each vehicle.

A woman was cited on a charge of crashing a red traffic signal as a result of a collision at Lisbon and W. 8th Sts. Saturday at 12:19 p.m.

Officers said the collision involved a 1964 two-door sedan driven by George J. Stoffel, 25, of Chester RD 1 and a 1963 four-door sedan operated by Carolyn A. Canton, 28, of Lisbon RD 1.

Stoffel said he was turning east off Lisbon St. with the traffic light in his favor when the Canton auto crashed the signal and hit his car. The woman said she saw the red light but was unable to halt before hitting the Stoffel auto, police said.

The mishap damaged the left front wheel, fender, hood and grill of the Stoffel car and the right front fender, bumper and chrome stripping of the Canton auto.

A MISHAP at 4:15 p. m. Saturday on Lisbon St. damaged a 1965 sedan driven by James O. Cline, 17, of 2136 Sherwood Ave. and a 1964 sedan operated by Walter C. Coil, 65, of Irondale.

Cline told officers he was driving south on Lisbon St. when Coil pulled out of Spring Grove Cemetery in front of him. There was damage to the right side of the Cline car and the left front of the Coil auto.

EAST LIVERPOOL REVIEW

A City Auto Tax

A new tax is like a dose of castor oil—it's difficult to take under any circumstances, but becomes slightly more palatable in case of necessity.

East Liverpool apparently will be faced with a new $5 tax on motor vehicles, effective in 1969, if Council follows through with plans to enact the legislation tonight. Once the tax is in effect, the whole question will be: Just how necessary is it?

The answer is that the tax truly is necessary, if the city is to continue with any sort of regular street improvement program, particularly the annual summer "low-cost" projects in which it split expenses 50-50 with property-owners.

There was no "low - cost" program last summer for lack of money. The city resurfaced River Rd., a block of Washington St. and a long stretch of St. Clair Ave., but it used borrowed money. That means deductions from operating revenues in the future to retire the bonds and pay the interest.

COUNCIL COULD see no prospect of allocating money for a "low - cost" street program in 1969. The city's revenue has been whittled away steadily by rising costs, particularly payroll expense. Another round of pay increases is in the offing for the immediate future.

So, rather than let meaningful street improve- under which it will be enacted allows the program, go by the boards for another year, Council took the bull by the horns and proposed the $5 license tax. In making the proposal, the members pointed out that the new state law under which i will be enacted allows the proceeds to be used only for street work.

Councilman Floyd Murray, finance committee chairman, estimated the tax might yield $20,000 to $30,000 a year. Other estimates of the income run as high as $40,000. It will cover trucks, motorcycles and other vehicles, as well as private autos.

The charge applies only to those vehicles registered to East Liverpool residents, not the cars of those living in nearby townships who come to a local registrar's office each year to buy their tags.

Deputy registrars will collect the tax, along with a fee of perhaps 35 cents. The cash will be forwarded to the state, which will remit it to the city government. State prescribed decals may be used to indicate the city tax has been paid. Or the payment may be shown merely by a notation on the registration card which comes with the Ohio plates. That point is still undecided at Columbus.

COUNCILMEN said they must enact the ordinance before Jan. 1 to prevent the county from taking over the new tax field. They said if the city fails to act, East Liverpool residents will pay the $5 fee under county legislation and the city will receive little or no benefit. That proved a powerful argument to some members of Council.

The "low - cost" summer street program was inaugurated after the city income tax first was enacted. It was suspended at intervals when the tax was not being collected under its early on-again-off-again status.

In entering into the agreement with property-owners for the bituminous treatments, the city also assumed a moral obligaion to apply two additional biennial coatings of the material — entirely at the municipality's expense.

The scheduled treatments could not be applied in 1968 for lack of money. Therefore, for instance, a street which had been given the original treatment in 1966 and was slated for another shot of blacktop in 1968 simply did not receive it. A single coating of the material will not last long under normal traffic and the ravages of weather. If the streets are to be built up to the ultimate surface which the property-owners have a right to expect, the program must be continued.

CITY OFFICIALS said continuation of the "low - cost" program in 1969 easily could cost $30,000. This could account for all—or a major fraction—of the new revenue the city can expect from the license tax.

Therefore it would appear that the motor vehicle license tax is necessary to continue the street program that has done so much in 10 years to take secondary streets out of the mud. The new source hopefully will yield enough revenue to allow the city to undertake other meaningful work on its streets. No other major source of new income is open to the city government. A boost in the income tax beyond its present 1 per cent level would require a vote of the people. The chances of its approval are regarded as extremely slim.

And the annual cost will be the equivalent of the price the average motorist pays for a tankful of gas for a Sunday afternoon drive. It should not be a hardship on anyone who is able to buy and operate an auto.

Prayers Answered

The long ordeal of waiting and hoping has ended for Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Lamantia of Toronto and the parents and loved ones of 81 other members of the Pueblo who have been released by the North Koreans after capture 11 months ago.

The international strategy and ethics of the "spy" ship seizure last January will be debated across the world for decades and historians will analyze and conjecture the part it played in the "cold war" and the changed image of America in the eyes of other nations.

But today, the prayers of Mr. and Mrs. Lamantia and many others have been answered, and the judgment of diplomats, militarists, politicians and economists must yield to the joy which floods the hearts of those who welcome the Pueblo crew back from another painful episode in our commitments to aid the people of South Korea and South Vietnam.

Using The Flu

By Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — The Hong Kong flu can be a force for good as well as evil. While no one enjoys having the Hong Kong flu, everyone enjoys talking about it, and it is in this area that you can use the HKF to your advantage.

Art Buchwald

There is probably no better time of year to have HKF or at least say that you've got it, than around the holiday season. The first thing you can do is call up all your wife's relatives and tell them not to come for Christmas because you're coming down with it. Or, if you were scheduled to go to their place, indicate that rather than infect their family with the virus you've selflessly decided to stay home.

The Hong Kong flu can be used as an excuse to stay home from work on the Monday and Tuesday before Christmas so you can get your last-minute Christmas shopping done. It also can be used as an excuse to your mailman, garbage collector and grocery delivery boy as a reason you were unable to tip them this year.

FOR PRETTY YOUNG LADIES, HKF can be your protection from drunken bosses at Christmas office parties. As the boss makes a grab for you, tell him, "Not now. Wait until I get my flu shot next month."

You can use KHF to get out of Christmas and New Year's Eve parties you had no intention of going to. It can even be used as a reason for not going down to the department store to see Santa Claus.

The beauty of Hong Kong flu, as the all-purpose excuse for getting out of things, is that you don't have to have a case of it to enjoy it.

You can say your wife has it or one of the kids has it—or, if worst comes to worst, you can say you think you're getting it. The latter is a good excuse, because when you meet the person accidentally on the street you can always say, "I thought I was getting it but I didn't."

OBVIOUSLY, YOU'RE NOT the only one playing the Hong Kong flu game and there may be many people who use it to get out of a date with you. The best way to play it under those conditions is, when you meet the person who told you his wife had the flu, to ask him how the kids are. If he was lying, he'll think he told you the kids had the flu, and he'll say, "They're getting better."

At that point you can say, "I thought you said it was your wife who had it." You won't gain a friend by doing this but it will be fun to see the person squirm.

While there are many people who will use KHF for their own benefit, there are others who will actually have had it, and they will suffer because of what is now known as the Hong Kong Flu credibility gaps.

For example, if you come down with a real case of HKF and you call your doctor and he says he can't see you because he has a case of it himself, is he telling the truth, or is he on his way to a poker game with five other doctor friends? You'll never know.

The people who have had HKF are naturally resentful of those who have not had it but who are using it for their own selfish purposes. For that reason, an organization has been formed, known as the Veterans of Hong Kong Flu.

THE HKF HOPES to set up a bureau similar to a credit bureau where the names will be listed, and anyone who doubts can check with the bureau to see what kind of a Hong Kong flu rating a person has (one day, two days and so on).

Besides the HKF rating, the veterans hope to hold a convention in Chinatown during the Chinese New Year.

One personal incident concerning the epidemic happened during a TV show I was filming the other day for Metromedia in Washington. The producer told me I was one of many who was supposed to say something nice about Christmas. "We were hoping to get Jeane Dixon," he said, "but she came down with the Hong Kong flu."

The cameraman looked up from his lens and said, "How come she didn't know she was getting it?"

Police To Have Own Union

WASHINGTON — Had he been in the executive board room of labor's high command last Monday morning, Calvin Coolidge would have shuddered and shouted about the "public security." But it's 50 years later than the late governor and the police union he smashed.

Victor Riesel

In labor's executive suite the other morning, a national policemen's union was, in effect, launched. It still is formless, nameless and without national officers. But it does have strong leadership.

It is at once the offspring of the fiery oratory and rioting of the ghettos, the lashing by liberals, the shouts of police "brutality" in the massive inner cities, and the yearning of thousands of younger "cops" for the dignity and respect for the job" in the "department" and in the communities of the land, be they black, white or Spanish-speaking.

A national police union — when formally announced next February — will be a social breakthrough. And it comes in the person of the cop in plain clothes, John J. Cassese, leader of the nation's biggest police organization, New York's Patrolmen's Benevolent Assn. (PBA). Last Monday, he sat across from the nation's labor leadership. John Cassese is no orator. There's a bit of what the men of diction call Brooklynese.

BUT THERE WAS an eloquence in his words as he spoke for the PBA and the small delegation of New York City police who had come down with him.

This friendly confrontation was not without its drama. Many of the 23,000 men who follow Cassese had, at one time, battled with the picket lines of those across the table. Paul Hall, the Seafarers' chief, now an AFL-CIO vice president, still can remember the "dumping" his white-capped pickets got from New York's huskiest finest, during a siege of the Stock Exchange. But it was new business on the glistening table.

Policemen's President Cassese spoke of his PBA's fraternity with the powerful 1.2 million-member New York City Central Labor Council. And at his side, a peppery evidence, was his sponsor, the council leader, Harry Van Arsdale, who doubles as national treasurer of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers.

For the police, it was the best of all seasons and the worst of all seasons. Pay and pensions are of the best and there will be more and more. But Mr. Cassese said that the time had come for the cops to get into the mainstream, join officially with labor, start a national policemen's union. This, said he, would be good for law and order, "the (labor) movement" and the force.

Listeners had no need to be telepathic. The message was coming through clearly. As the New York cop spoke, the labor leaders were fully knowledgeable of the assault of the huge New York teachers union federation by black and Puerto Rican activists demanding community autonomy and decentralization of all city-wide services.

LABOR'S LEADERS knew that their movement, and only their movement, had saved the teachers federation from splintering. They knew as well as Mr. Cassese that now the decentralization campaign is aimed at the nation's police departments.

That same day, CORE's national chairman, Roy Innis, had sent his deputy, first vice chairman, Victor Solomon, to me for a discussion of "police decentralization." Solomen, a militant Negro who heads Harlem CORE, put it bluntly.

Harlem, said he, must have its own police department and its own police chief. It must become the prototype for black community everywhere. This, he added, would be the only antidote to the community "paranoia" over "police brutality."

Mr. Solomon, speaking for CORE officially, asserted that all essential services must be decentralized, not merely the educational system. There must be, said he, a Harlem Board of Realty, a Harlem Sanitation Dept., as well as a Harlem police commissioner.

NOR IS THIS MERELY the philosophy of the outspoken militants who do not hesitate to talk boldly of bringing down the entire white "establishment." Police decentralization demands now come from many cities and from such moderates as Whitney Young Jr., head of the Urban League which now includes such a proposal in its new program for cities (such as Pittsburgh) in 16 states and this capital.

And so, there in the AFL-CIO board room, across the square from the White House, sat Mr. Cassese and his delegation outlined graphically against the background of the social revolution.

President George Meany and the rest of the executive council gave the cops a friendly hearing. There was sentiment for a national union — which could enroll 325,000 uniformed men. A committee was set up to "study" the official PBA application for membership. It will report back to the midwinter council session in Bal Harbour, Fla.

The cops will be welcomed. And since there already is a loosely formed network of police organizations, a national police union could easily be launched. This will mean taking police locals from the meat cutters, laborers, machinists, building service and state, county and municipal employes national unions.

But there will be no loud objections. After 50 years, the cops will have come home to the house of labor. The changing world will see a solid front — not all of which will be bluecoated.

Inauguration Troubles?

Will Nixon's inauguration ceremonies be accompanied by a repetition of what happened in Chicago during the Democratic National Convention last August?

This question is being asked now because of plans for a "counter-inauguration" to be conducted by the same committee which organized the demonstrations in Chicago and which claimed that their protests would be "peaceful" and "nonviolent."

The same group—the "National Mobilization Committee To End the War in Vietnam"—has just announced that it intends to hold a rally in Washington near the Capitol on the day before inauguration and to carry on a demonstration in an area along the parade route in inauguration day.

DAVID DELLINGER, chairman of the committee, has revealed that "preliminary negotiations" are under way with federal and District of Columbia officials to obtain the necessary permission.

He said he anticipates no difficulty but declared that if the city officials "take a repressive stand, this would raise the possibility of civil disobedience." He added: "Because we are peaceful, doesn't mean we shall surrender all of our rights."

This could be construed as a threat of disorder and a warning to federal and city officials that, unless they grant the permits, "civil disobedience" might follow.

The Walker report on the turbulence in Chicago referred to the National Mobilization Committee, headed by Dellinger, as the group which organized the demonstrations there.

Of Dellinger himself, the report says he "contributed significantly to mobilizing for the Pentagon march" in October of 1967, and points out that he has twice visited both Hanoi and Cuba and led a delegation which met in Czechoslovakia with North Vietnamese and representatives of the Viet Cong. He is called "the senior member of the peace movement."

The Dellinger committee consists of a coalition from more than 100 groups and the plan is to have "workshops" on the Saturday before inauguration to familiarize the demonstrators with the issues and organization problems.

On Sunday, a march and a rally in the vicinity of the Capitol are planned. A prearranged area is being sought for a "peaceful demonstration" coincident with and on the same street as the inaugural parade.

The application for these permits presents the same situation as Mayor Daley faced in Chicago. Undoubtedly the National Mobilization Committee To End the War in Vietnam wants to get publicity on radio and television and in the press through demonstrations carried on while the nation watches the inauguration of a new president.

If the Dellinger committee wishes to stage a protest, this could be done a couple miles away from the Capitol. Or a demonstration could be held an hour after the parade is over.

But no city is under obligation to give a permit for any particular area just to allow the exercise of "freedom of speech." Any stadium or auditorium or convention hall or even a park area can be made available.

The responsibility of the City of Washington and federal officials is to insure a peaceful atmosphere for the inauguration ceremonies. In view of the record of the National Mobilization Committee and other groups, there is every reason to deny permits for demonstrations which could in any way conflict with the inaugural parade or the inauguration itself or provoke disorders.

The Dellinger committee says that its protest is not aimed so much at Nixon as against continuation of the Vietnam War and "the enslavement of black people at home." All such expressions are permissible under the right of free speech but no government, federal or municipal, is obligated to furnish publicity facilities to dissenter.

THIS IS PARTICULARLY TRUE if there is any possibility of interruption of the inaugural parade or the eruption of fistfights among spectators, many of whom would resent the interferences by the demonstrators.

If a permit is granted, it is the intention of the National Mobilization Committee to call upon supporters from all parts of the country to come to the three-day demonstrations which are planned.

So unless courage is exhibited by the officials and permits are given only for areas that are far away from the inaugural ceremony and parade or at a different hour, Nixon's inauguration day is in for trouble.

A City Auto Tax

A new tax is like a dose of castor oil—it's difficult to take under any circumstances, but becomes slightly more palatable in case of necessity.

East Liverpool apparently will be faced with a new $5 tax on motor vehicles, effective in 1969, if Council follows through with plans to enact the legislation tonight. Once the tax is in effect, the whole question will be: Just how necessary is it?

The answer is that the tax truly is necessary, if the city is to continue with any sort of regular street improvement program, particularly the annual summer "low-cost" projects in which it split expenses 50-50 with property-owners.

There was no "low - cost" program last summer for lack of money. The city resurfaced River Rd., a block of Washington St. and a long stretch of St. Clair Ave., but it used borrowed money. That means deductions from operating revenues in the future to retire the bonds and pay the interest.

COUNCIL COULD see no prospect of allocating money for a "low - cost" street program in 1969. The city's revenue has been whittled away steadily by rising costs, particularly payroll expense. Another round of pay increases is in the offing for the immediate future.

So, rather than let meaningful street improve- under which it will be enacted allows the program, go by the boards for another year, Council took the bull by the horns and proposed the $5 license tax. In making the proposal, the members pointed out that the new state law under which i will be enacted allows the proceeds to be used only for street work.

Councilman Floyd Murray, finance committee chairman, estimated the tax might yield $20,000 to $30,000 a year. Other estimates of the income run as high as $40,000. It will cover trucks, motorcycles and other vehicles, as well as private autos.

The charge applies only to those vehicles registered to East Liverpool residents, not the cars of those living in nearby townships who come to a local registrar's office each year to buy their tags.

Deputy registrars will collect the tax, along with a fee of perhaps 35 cents. The cash will be forwarded to the state, which will remit it to the city government. State prescribed decals may be used to indicate the city tax has been paid. Or the payment may be shown merely by a notation on the registration card which comes with the Ohio plates. That point is still undecided at Columbus.

COUNCILMEN said they must enact the ordinance before Jan. 1 to prevent the county from taking over the new tax field. They said if the city fails to act, East Liverpool residents will pay the $5 fee under county legislation and the city will receive little or no benefit. That proved a powerful argument to some members of Council.

The "low - cost" summer street program was inaugurated after the city income tax first was enacted. It was suspended at intervals when the tax was not being collected under its early on-again-off-again status.

In entering into the agreement with property-owners for the bituminous treatments, the city also assumed a moral obligaion to apply two additional biennial coatings of the material — entirely at the municipality's expense.

The scheduled treatments could not be applied in 1968 for lack of money. Therefore, for instance, a street which had been given the original treatment in 1966 and was slated for another shot of blacktop in 1968 simply did not receive it. A single coating of the material will not last long under normal traffic and the ravages of weather. If the streets are to be built up to the ultimate surface which the property-owners have a right to expect, the program must be continued.

CITY OFFICIALS said continuation of the "low - cost" program in 1969 easily could cost $30,000. This could account for all—or a major fraction—of the new revenue the city can expect from the license tax.

Therefore it would appear that the motor vehicle license tax is necessary to continue the street program that has done so much in 10 years to take secondary streets out of the mud. The new source hopefully will yield enough revenue to allow the city to undertake other meaningful work on its streets. No other major source of new income is open to the city government. A boost in the income tax beyond its present 1 per cent level would require a vote of the people. The chances of its approval are regarded as extremely slim.

And the annual cost will be the equivalent of the price the average motorist pays for a tankful of gas for a Sunday afternoon drive. It should not be a hardship on anyone who is able to buy and operate an auto.

Nixon Suffers With Flu, Plans To Rest In Florida

NEW YORK (AP) — President-elect Nixon is suffering from a touch of the flu, but says he hopes it will not interfere with his plan to leave for a Florida vacation.

Nixon, standing coatless despite a chill rain Sunday night, said his doctor told him the Florida sun would be a good place to recuperate. He hopes to leave today.

He said he felt, "pretty good," after suffering flu symptoms, including a slight fever, Saturday night. He saw a doctor, rested, then spent more than four hours Sunday at the wedding and reception of his daughter Julie and Dwight David Eisenhower II.

The first word of Nixon's ailment came when guests leaving the reception said he had told them of Saturday night's illness.

Ronald L. Ziegler, Nixon's press assistant, said the President-elect saw Dr. Victor deLuccia in his Fifth Avenue apartment Saturday night and received medication.

Nixon stayed behind to rest while his family attended church Sunday morning.

By the time of the late afternoon wedding Nixon was said to be feeling better. Ziegler said he did not believe Nixon had any fever at the ceremony.

Nixon shook hands in the reception line, went outside to bid the newlyweds goodbye and talked to reporters and policemen in the street.

Nixon said the doctor had told him he did not have the Asian flu but a "low grade" infection.

"The doctor said it would be good if I got down to Florida and got some sun," he said.

Nixon rode the three blocks back to his apartment and had another rainy chat, this one with Chief Inspector Sanford D. Garelik of the New York police department. Nixon praised New York policemen and said he had asked that a contingent march in his inaugural parade.

"Let us know what we can do to help you at our level," he told Garelik.

Then he went inside, saying he was going right to bed.

Nixon plans a 12-day vacation in Key Biscayne, Fla., and in Los Angeles. None of his top advisers were to accompany him to Key Biscayne, and a spokesman said Nixon would be doing little business during the holidays.

He planned to remain at his newly purchased retreat near Miami until Jan. 1, then fly to Los Angeles and attend the Rose Bowl football game before returning to New York on Jan. 3.

Football Fans Irate Over Break In Game

NEW YORK (AP) — Almost 2,000 disappointed fans called the Columbia Broadcasting System to complain after CBS interrupted television coverage of the Minnesota Vikings - Baltimore Colts football game Sunday to show live pictures from Apollo 8.

The National Football League Western Conference championship game was taken off the air for the last 2½ minutes of the first half so CBS could show a 10-minute telecast from space. The network said its switchboards were jammed with calls from irate fans.

Cong Reject Ky's Idea Of Direct Talks

PARIS (AP) — The Viet Cong today rejected the idea of direct talks with the South Vietnamese government as advanced by Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky.

Tran Buu Kiem, president of the foreign affairs commission of the National Liberation Front, told Agence France Presse, the French news agency, that direct talks between the NLF and "the present rulers in Saigon ... are impossible because they do not represent the South Vietnamese population and cannot be accepted by the NLF as valid negotiating partners."

Ky flew back to Saigon to talk with President Nguyen Van Thieu, and on his arrival scotched the impression he gave in Paris that he was considering talks with the Viet Cong soon to bring peace.

He told a news conference in Saigon that after peace returned to South Vietnam, the Saigon government would deal with all opposition groups including the National Liberation Front. But he said his government will never recognze the NLF "as an entity. But we admit it is a reality."

In Paris, speaking to a CBS panel, he had not been so specific, though there too, he spoke of the NLF as a "reality."

"Once we recognize its reality, we have to face this reality and try to solve it," he said.

Ky said several times he would propose to Thieu direct contacts between their government and its opposition in South Vietnam, including the NLF leaders. But his imperfect English made his precise meaning unclear.

His talk of accepting the Viet Cong's "reality" appeared to envisage an entirely new policy toward the NLF, but at other times he seemed to restate the old Saigon offer to talk directly with individual NLF leaders who openly relinquish their Communist allegiance.

Ky stressed that such contacts would have to take place in South Vietnam, not Paris, and that the Saigon government would not recognize the NLF as an equal. And he said once again that there could be "no question of a coalition with the Communists."

CBS broadcast the Ky interview Sunday on its "Face the Nation" program.

Shortly after the broadcast, Hanoi's chief negotiator, Xuan Thuy, told a Paris rally the peace conference can only get off the ground "when a government has been set up in Saigon which really wants to negotiate with the National Liberation Front."

The NLF claims to be the sole representative of the South Vietnamese people and demands equal negotiating status at the enlarged peace talks. Saigon has refused to recognize this claim, considering the Viet Cong and its political arm tools of Hanoi. As a result the start of expanded peace talks has bogged down in a deadlock over such status symbols as the shape of the conference table.

These procedural issues have been discussed at meetings between the deputy chief of the North Vietnamese delegation, Col. Ha Van Lau, and his American opposite, Cyrus R. Vance. Vance is in Washington this week for talks with President Johnson, and no U.S.-North Vietnamese meetings have been scheduled over Christmas.

New Device Used By Area Patrols

The new speed check device known as VASCAR was put into operation Saturday by the Lisbon and Wintersville barracks of the Ohio State Patrol.

Sgt. Ralph Mitchell of the Lisbon post on Route 30 just south of Lisbon said three arrests were made with the aid of the device this weekend. Wintersville made no such arrests.

Vascar — Visual Average Speed Computer and Recorder —is an electronic speed calculating mechanism which enables the patrolman to clock speeding vehicles.

It differs from radar in that it gives the average speed a vehicle is traveling between two points. Radar records the exact speed at the time of contact.

Patrolmen J. W. VanHorne and W. D. Muckleroy are the officers assigned to the Lisbon post who will operate Vascar. They were trained as to the operation of the equipment in July and have been practicing since that time.

Synod Of Bishops Set By Pope Paul

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI announced today that the second meeting of his synod of bishops will open at the Vatican next Oct. 11.

The Pope made his announcement at a pre-Christmas meeting with members of the Sacred College of Cardinals, members of the papal court, and representatives of the Diocese of Rome. The Pope gave them his Christmas greetings.

The synod of bishops was created after the ecumenical council to assist the Pope in governing the Church. The first meeting brought together 200 bishops who met from Sept. 29 to Oct. 28, 1967.

Though the bishops were forbidden to take up the issue of birth control at their meetings, they discussed a wide range of other issues, including mixed marriages, canon law, liturgy, seminaries and doctrine.

Youth Takes Licking Over Term In Prison

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — The teen-ager who chose 20 licks with a leather belt instead of five years in prison has vowed he will stay out of trouble, and defended the judge who gave him the choice.

"The judge went out on a limb for me," Scott Grandstaff said last weekend. "I'm not going to cut it off.

"If anybody even suggested a burglary I'd shine my shoes on his face," the youth said.

District Judge Carmon C. Harris sentenced the Grandstaff youth Thursday to the whipping by his brother-in-law on a charge of concealment of stolen property. Harris had given the teen-ager a deferred sentence earlier this year in connection with another burglary.

Hearings Due Dec. 30 For 2 Coraopolis Men

Acting Municipal Judge Robert A. Kapp today set hearings Monday, Dec. 30, at 9 a. m. for two Coraopolis men both charged with resisting an officer and disorderly conduct by using profanity and indecent language.

Identified as Ronald W. Taylor and Chris Socha, the two were arrested on Washington St. about 10:30 Saturday night by Patrolmen Arthur Peters and Charles Coen.

Each defendant pleaded not guilty and indicated he wished time to obtain counsel. The court set appearance bonds at $150 for each.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Action from outside the Middle East will be needed to prevent a holocaust if the powers involved remain hamstrung by myths, says Charles Yost, U.S. ambassador-designate to the United Nations.

The natural place to look is to the United Nations, acting with strong support of the United States, Soviet Union and other great powers, Yost writes in the January issue of Atlantic magazine.

Yost wrote the article, released Sunday, before he was named to the UN post by President-elect Nixon.

Moderate Arab and Israeli leaders realize the November 1967 resolution adopted by the UN for mediation of the dispute contains all the ingredients for a mutually acceptable agreement, Yost wrote.

"Nevertheless," he continued, "when a moderate leader or spokesman on either side ventures the most modest proposal in the direction of realism and compromise, he is overwhelmed with abuse, the appropriate myths are self-righteously thrown in his face, and the influence and authority on which his future usefulness depends are undermined."

The United States and Soviet Union, Yost suggested, might also abandon the myth that either can dominate the Middle East and that "their really vital interest in the area is to control and remove the great threat to their own security."

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House Foreign Affairs subcommittee—reporting America's image abroad at a 50-year low—has called for a systematic reappraisal of the government's entire information policy.

Many foreigners consider this country "a violent, lawless, overbearing, even a sick society," said a subcommittee report released over the weekend, even though America still enjoys wide global popularity.

The report said opinion surveys overseas showed U.S. Vietnam actions often confuse and sometimes repel many foreigners, that race and crime problems shock them, and that "the most devastating impact" came from the assassinations of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy and Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

The subcommittee proposed reappraisal of U.S. information policy by a bipartisan commission of experts and suggested among other things more personal contact abroad and better training of U.S. information personnel.

Sen. Charles Goodell, R-N.Y., says he thinks Congress is committed to the Apollo program to land men on the moon—but says "I do not expect Congress is going to be in any way pushed to go beyond this to Mars or Venus."

Goodell was inerviewed on ABC's "Issues and Answers."

Sens. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., and Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., say they will renew the biennial effort to make filibusters easier to cut off shortly after Congress reconvenes Jan. 3. Efforts to revise the two-thirds Senate vote requirement for cutting off debate have failed at the beginning of each session since 1959, when clarifications were approved.

"Apparently the North Koreans believe there is propaganda value even in a worthless document which (chief U.S. negotiator) Maj. Gen. Gilbert H. Chester Sets Light Change

A changeover to a mercury vapor light on Louisiana Ave., at 4th St., was approved when Chester Council met Saturday morning in City Hall.

The improved lighting will reduce safety hazards for sledriders in the area as well as residents, Councilmen pointed out. The cost will be $1 more a month.

Councilman Charles Mansfield was instructed to study building codes of nearby West Virginia communities preparatory to adopting a code pertaining to in-city building.

Clerk Don Hood reported that it would cost more than twice the amount of a regular phone bill to install a single emergency number — a suggestion that had been mde by Mansfield at a previous meeting. A "911" system is expected to be adopted on a nationwide basis, John Pleish of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Co. of West Virginia told Hood, but it would cost the city far too much to install on a singular basis, the councilmen feel.

Councilman Frank DeCaplo requested a list of streets which need sealcoating. The work is scheduled next summer. Alleys will be included in the improvement, DeCapio explained.

Bills totaling $1,588 were paid. Remittances amounted to $189.

The next meeting will be Jan. 13 at 7:30 p.m. in City Hall.

Chimp Has Holiday, Makes Best Of It

NEW DELHI (AP) — Rita, the little chimp at the zoo, had a Roman holiday one night and made the best of it.

She walked out of her unlatched cell and took a stroll in the cool lawns of the zoo, to the wonderment of the other inmates and the shrieking of the frightened caged birds.

The surgeon found her seated in his chair when he reported for duty in the morning. She needed no persuasion. Clasping the surgeon's hand, she walked back into her cell.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Action from outside the Middle East will be needed to prevent a holocaust if the powers involved remain hamstrung by myths, says Charles Yost, U.S. ambassador-designate to the United Nations.

The natural place to look is to the United Nations, acting with strong support of the United States, Soviet Union and other great powers, Yost writes in the January issue of Atlantic magazine.

Yost wrote the article, released Sunday, before he was named to the UN post by President-elect Nixon.

Moderate Arab and Israeli leaders realize the November 1967 resolution adopted by the UN for mediation of the dispute contains all the ingredients for a mutually acceptable agreement, Yost wrote.

"Nevertheless," he continued, "when a moderate leader or spokesman on either side ventures the most modest proposal in the direction of realism and compromise, he is overwhelmed with abuse, the appropriate myths are self-righteously thrown in his face, and the influence and authority on which his future usefulness depends are undermined."

The United States and Soviet Union, Yost suggested, might also abandon the myth that either can dominate the Middle East and that "their really vital interest in the area is to control and remove the great threat to their own security."

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House Foreign Affairs subcommittee—reporting America's image abroad at a 50-year low—has called for a systematic reappraisal of the government's entire information policy.

Many foreigners consider this country "a violent, lawless, overbearing, even a sick society," said a subcommittee report released over the weekend, even though America still enjoys wide global popularity.

The report said opinion surveys overseas showed U.S. Vietnam actions often confuse and sometimes repel many foreigners, that race and crime problems shock them, and that "the most devastating impact" came from the assassinations of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy and Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

The subcommittee proposed reappraisal of U.S. information policy by a bipartisan commission of experts and suggested among other things more personal contact abroad and better training of U.S. information personnel.

Chester Sets Light Change

A changeover to a mercury vapor light on Louisiana Ave., at 4th St., was approved when Chester Council met Saturday morning in City Hall.

The improved lighting will reduce safety hazards for sledriders in the area as well as residents, Councilmen pointed out. The cost will be $1 more a month.

Councilman Charles Mansfield was instructed to study building codes of nearby West Virginia communities preparatory to adopting a code pertaining to in-city building.

Clerk Don Hood reported that it would cost more than twice the amount of a regular phone bill to install a single emergency number — a suggestion that had been mde by Mansfield at a previous meeting. A "911" system is expected to be adopted on a nationwide basis, John Pleish of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Co. of West Virginia told Hood, but it would cost the city far too much to install on a singular basis, the councilmen feel.

Councilman Frank DeCapio requested a list of streets which need sealcoating. The work is scheduled next summer. Alleys will be included in the improvement, DeCapio explained.

Bills totaling $1,588 were paid. Remittances amounted to $189.

The next meeting will be Jan. 13 at 7:30 p.m. in City Hall.

Chimp Has Holiday, Makes Best Of It

NEW DELHI (AP) — Rita, the little chimp at the zoo, had a Roman holiday one night and made the best of it.

She walked out of her unlatched cell and took a stroll in the cool lawns of the zoo, to the wonderment of the other inmates and the shrieking of the frightened caged birds.

The surgeon found her seated in his chair when he reported for duty in the morning. She needed no persuasion. Clasping the surgeon's hand, she walked back into her cell.

Christmas Carol Relives In Playrites Presentation

By CLARA HALL

Charles Dickens' "Christmas Carol" came to life with an excellent portrayal by the Ceramic Playrites in three performances Saturday and Sunday at the Liberty Theater in Wellsville.

A fine job of makeup, with wardrobes of the late 19th Century set off the initial offering of the newly-formed Children's Wing directed by Ed McCune.

The ghastly effect and dramatic voice of Tom Henthorn as the specter of the dead partner provided plenty of use for "clown white," one of the mainstays of the theatrical world.

Sue Smith, Lida Smith and Steve Clutter, in appropriate costumes, gave fine performances as the ghosts of "Christmas Past, Present And Yet To Come."

Bill Arvin and Susan Garner enacted the roles of Bob Cratchit and his wife and Rhee and Carol Cronin and Clutter took the parts of their children.

Vincent Monte was Tiny Tim, Dexter Messer the nephew of Scrooge and Marc McCune the collector.

Frances Leon as the "Spirit of Christmas" did the narration in the foreground behind a holly-decorated pulpit.

APPROPRIATE stage settings were created, including "smoke" for the ghost entrances, a cemetery and a Christmas scene with large decorated tree. Recorded music formed a continual background.

During the finale, the audience was invited to join the cast in the singing of carols.

Attending were several local children's groups, who were having "theater parties."

Hope's Quips Fly

Comedy, Religion Given Servicemen In Vietnam

SAIGON (AP) — Bob Hope's plane lost an engine, Billy Graham preached to 2,000 and Archbishop Terence J. Cooke arrived, each bringing a part of what Christmas is to U.S. troops in Vietnam.

Hope, the 66-year-old comedian whose topical one-liners have brought laughter to front-line GIs in three wars, shrugged off the failure of one of the four engines on the U.S. Air Force C130 that brought him and his 65 entertainers to Saigon.

"I heard a strange noise, the plane lurched and one of the four engines stopped," Hope told a news conference after the plane landed safely. "I jumped into Rosie's arms (Roosevelt Grier, the 300-pound former pro football star) and he held me and burped me twice."

Clad in white shoes and yellow pants and swinging a golf club, Hope later performed his first 90-minute show in 100-degree weather at the Long Binh supply base 20 miles northeast of Saigon to an audience of 30,000 that included U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker and Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, the U.S. commander in Vietnam.

"This is the perfect time to come to Vietnam, now that the war has moved to Paris," said Hope. "We know that the bomb halt is working. We flew over the Ho Chi Minh Trail on the way here and nothing was moving—it was the worst traffic jam I ever saw."

North of Da Nang in an amphitheater at Phu Bai, some troops waited as long as six hours in a monsoon drizzle to hear Graham preach.

"Maybe somebody misunderstood and they expected Raquel Welch," the evangelist joked.

Before his religious message, Graham told the troops that the majority of people in the United States are behind them in their effort in Vietnam.

After the service, Graham spent 20 minutes shaking hands and signing autographs before boarding a helicopter for a tour of U.S. 7th Fleet vessels off the coast. He arrived Saturday for a five-day visit.

Archbishop Cooke of New York, who is Roman Catholic vicar of the U.S. armed forces, said on his arrival from visits with U.S. troops in Thailand that he brought "a message of hope and a special prayer for peace."

"Christmas is a family celebration and so these people are making an added sacrifice," the archbishop told an airport news conference.

Soldier Arrested In Check Charge Involving DePue

A soldier believed AWOL was apprehended as the result of testimony at a hearing for Donald DePue of East Liverpool before Justice of the Peace Leroy Gibbs of Brighton Township Saturday.

DePue pleaded guilty at the hearing to passing worthless checks, and was held for court on charges of forgery.

Charges of conspiracy to commit an unlawful act were also filed against him at the hearing. He implicated Thomas McPherson who was taken into custody Sunday in New Brighton by Leo LeFebvre of Ohioville, a Beaver County constable.

McPherson was charged with forgery and conspiracy to commit a crime on a warrant issued by Justice of the Peace Gibbs. The warrant was issued as a result of testimony of Constable Terry Spooner of Beaver before Gibbs at the hearing Saturday.

Army officers are investigating the possibility of McPherson's being absent without leave.

Both men are to be arraigned tonight before Gibbs on the conspiracy and the forgery charges.

Parked Auto Struck By Sedan In Ohioville

Both cars received about $250 damage. Patrolman Anthony Ross Jr. said the mishap occurred near the Five Points intersection.

Record For Revenue Rulings May Be Set

CHICAGO (AP) — This could be the most prolific revenue ruling year in the history of the Internal Revenue Service.

Commerce Clearing House, in a study, said IRS has already published some 500 revenue rulings, and the projection by year's end could exceed 750.

The IRS annually issues thousands of private letter rulings to individual taxpayers.

One reason for the increase in rulings is that the 1954 code has revamped the nation's tax laws. Also new rulings replace or eliminate old, obsolete rulings as part of the agency's house-cleaning program.

Record For Revenue Rulings May Be Set

CHICAGO (AP) — This could be the most prolific revenue ruling year in the history of the Internal Revenue Service.

Commerce Clearing House, in a study, said IRS has already published some 500 revenue rulings, and the projection by year's end could exceed 750.

The IRS annually issues thousands of private letter rulings to individual taxpayers.

One reason for the increase in rulings is that the 1954 code has revamped the nation's tax laws. Also new rulings replace or eliminate old, obsolete rulings as part of the agency's house-cleaning program.

Honeymoon Kept Secret

Brief, Private Rites Mark Wedding Of David, Julie

NEW YORK (AP) — Julie Nixon, younger daughter of President-elect Nixon, and Dwight David Eisenhower II, only grandson of the former president, were married Sunday in a brief Protestant ceremony that from beginning to end carried out the bride's wish for a private and personal wedding.

Before a small, white, silk-covered altar banked by rows of red and white poinsettias in the historic old Marble Collegiate Church, Julie surprised her father when she turned and kissed him after he gave her hand to the groom. At the end of the ceremony, she again broke tradition and did not kiss the groom.

"That was her idea," Nixon told reporters after the 12-minute ceremony," ... If she handles all of the great events of her life as well as this marriage, she will be all right."

Service Changed

It was also Julie's idea to substitute the words thee and thou in the Reformed Church of America service. The Nixons are Quakers. David, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Eisenhower, is an Episcopalian.

The bride also requested Dr. Norman Vincent Peale, who performed the ceremony, to read Psalm 100, which begins, "Make a joyful noise unto the Lord," and Psalm 121: "I will lift up mine eyes . . ."

"I rather thought this was a special day," Nixon said. "Just before coming here I saw the first shots of the Apollo flight and I just heard of the release of the Pueblo crew tonight. Dec. 22 is a lucky day."

Gown Described

Julie, 20, radiant in a Victorian, full-skirted, ivory peau d'ange dress with puffed sleeves and a high neck, stood beside the groom, who wore a cutaway. She clutched a modest white bouquet of lily of the valley, narcissus, sweetheart roses and bouvardia. Her illusion veil was held with a crown of seed pearls.

David, also 20, held her hand in both of his, letting go only when she removed her short white gloves to show reporters the diamond circulet wedding ring she received in the single-ring ceremony.

At first somewhat startled when she was addressed as Mrs. Eisenhower, the dark-haired bride fielded questions with composure, refusing only to reveal their wedding trip destination.

Honeymoon A Secret

"It's a secret," Julie said.

The couple was expected to take a short trip before returning to classes on Jan. 2. David is a junior at Amherst College, in Amherst, Mass.; Julie will begin her junior year studies at Smith College in nearby Northhampton, where they have rented a $95-a-month apartment.

David, flashing a broad grin, balked at first at kissing Julie for photographers. But goaded by photographers' cries of "chicken!" he pecked her once, then led Julie to the reception upstairs, in the Plaza's Grand Ballroom.

Couple Cut Cake

A six-tier wedding cake, topped with a tiny bouquet of bouvardia, was wheeled to the center of the ballroom. The couple cut the first pieces together —David's hand over Julie's.

The bride fed David the first piece, then offered her father a slice. Mrs. Nixon was next, and then Sgt. and Mrs. John Moaney of Washington, D.C., who were asked to take some cake to former President and Mrs. Eisenhower, who watched the wedding ceremony on a special television circuit in separate rooms at Walter Reed Army Hspital in Washington.

Woman Found Dead In Her Apartment

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The nude, blood-covered body of a woman believed to be in her 40's was found Sunday in her apartment, police said.

Homicide detectives were attempting to make a positive identification.

They said the victim apparently was the victim of a fatal beating.

The body was discovered after George Fritz, 70, the building custodian, became suspicious because he had not seen the woman since last Monday. He called police.

The victim lived at 2830 Franklin Boulevard.

A Very Unwelcome Stowaway

The Flu Bug's Traveling With Apollo's Astronauts

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — A space doctor says it is almost certain that all three astronauts eventually will come down with the flu-like virus that is bouncing around the Apollo 8 spacecraft.

"They play ping-pong with that sort of thing," said Dr. Charles A. Berry, chief flight surgeon.

Berry said that Air Force Col. Frank Borman, spacecraft commander, is virtually over the gastrointestinal ailment that struck him Sunday but the virus is easy to catch over and over because of the low immunity it produces.

He said it is almost certain that Navy Capt. James A. Lovell Jr. and Air Force Maj. William A. Anders would come down with the bug in the close quarters of the Apollo cabin and that Borman most likely would be reinfected.

Borman Suffers Most

All three crewmen were not feeling up to par Sunday but Borman was in worst shape. He said he vomited and had diarrhea, chills and headaches.

The astronauts first began to feel uneasy Saturday when they unstrapped themselves from the seats and began to move around, but no one knows what caused this. The Apollo 7 crew did not encounter this discomfort during its earth orbit in October. However, doctors said individual's react differently.

Berry discounted any possibility that radiation from the sun was producing any problems for the astronauts. Meters showed exposure inside the spacecraft was minor.

Berry said it was conceivable, but not likely, that the symptoms of this gastrointesinal ailment could shorten the flight of Apollo 8. If two or three of the astronauts are vomiting and have diarrhea, it could interfere with their performance.

Drugs Taken

To combat this, the astronauts are taking an intestinal calming agent called Lomotil to prevent vomiting and have permission to take the antinausea drug called Marezine.

Realistically, the Apollo 8 flight already is committed to going around the moon, and the only chance of shortening it would mean eliminating the moon orbits or reducing their number.

In the weightless state, vomiting and diarrhea produce some obvious problems in cabin contamination, and vomiting requires special effort by the astronauts to clear their breathing passages.

The problem had been considered before. Contaminants are cleared eventually by the air-conditioning system in the spacecraft. It was earth-tested with a can of cream of chicken soup.

The astronauts were shielded as much as possible from the Hong Kong flu. They were vaccinated, as were some 1,600 persons who might have had contact with them.

Persistent Virus

But the persistent virus that attacked Borman was rampant at Cape Kennedy, among the space workers. Other astronauts with whom the Apollo crew met in the last 10 days have come down with the same illness. This also gives doctors a pretty good notion of what the illness is, even though their patients are farther from home than anyone has gone before.

The Apollo 8 medicine chest carries 12 pills to combat nausea and motion sickness, and there is the usual precautionary message about them in drug literature:

Cars Figure In Two Wrecks Within A Matter Of Minutes

Two area drivers experienced double trouble as the result of two accidents within 15 minutes of each other on Route 170, a half-mile north of Route 30, Saturday night.

When Ralph E. Lockhart, 43, of RD 4 halted his 1964 sedan in a line of traffic, it was struck in the rear by a northbound 1966 sedan operated by Gene Allen Rose, 37, of Cannons Mills Rd.

Rose was cited by the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon for failing to stop in the assured clear distance.

WHILE the cars were still at the scene, a sedan operated by Sandra J. Pridemore, 19, of Mt. Acre Trailer Ct., struck the rear of the Rose auto, pushing it into the Lockhart auto.

The Rose car received heavy damage to both the front and rear end, the Lockhart auto was damaged severely in the rear and the Pridemore vehicle in the front.

Miss Pridemore complained of injuries and said she would consult her physician.

Saltsman complained of injuries, but apparently was not treated.

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — A space doctor says it is almost certain that all three astronauts eventually will come down with the flu-like virus that is bouncing around the Apollo 8 spacecraft.

"They play ping-pong with that sort of thing," said Dr. Charles A. Berry, chief flight surgeon.

Berry said that Air Force Col. Frank Borman, spacecraft commander, is virtually over the gastrointestinal ailment that struck him Sunday but the virus is easy to catch over and over because of the low immunity it produces.

He said it is almost certain that Navy Capt. James A. Lovell Jr. and Air Force Maj. William A. Anders would come down with the bug in the close quarters of the Apollo cabin and that Borman most likely would be reinfected.

Borman Suffers Most

All three crewmen were not feeling up to par Sunday but Borman was in worst shape. He said he vomited and had diarrhea, chills and headaches.

The astronauts first began to feel uneasy Saturday when they unstrapped themselves from the seats and began to move around, but no one knows what caused this. The Apollo 7 crew did not encounter this discomfort during its earth orbit in October. However, doctors said individual's react differently.

Berry discounted any possibility that radiation from the sun was producing any problems for the astronauts. Meters showed exposure inside the spacecraft was minor.

Berry said it was conceivable, but not likely, that the symptoms of this gastrointesinal ailment could shorten the flight of Apollo 8. If two or three of the astronauts are vomiting and have diarrhea, it could interfere with their performance.

Drugs Taken

To combat this, the astronauts are taking an intestinal calming agent called Lomotil to prevent vomiting and have permission to take the antinausea drug called Marezine.

Realistically, the Apollo 8 flight already is committed to going around the moon, and the only chance of shortening it would mean eliminating the moon orbits or reducing their number.

In the weightless state, vomiting and diarrhea produce some obvious problems in cabin contamination, and vomiting requires special effort by the astronauts to clear their breathing passages.

The problem had been considered before. Contaminants are cleared eventually by the air-conditioning system in the spacecraft. It was earth-tested with a can of cream of chicken soup.

The astronauts were shielded as much as possible from the Hong Kong flu. They were vaccinated, as were some 1,600 persons who might have had contact with them.

Persistent Virus

But the persistent virus that attacked Borman was rampant at Cape Kennedy, among the space workers. Other astronauts with whom the Apollo crew met in the last 10 days have come down with the same illness. This also gives doctors a pretty good notion of what the illness is, even though their patients are farther from home than anyone has gone before.

The Apollo 8 medicine chest carries 12 pills to combat nausea and motion sickness, and there is the usual precautionary message about them in drug literature:

Cars Figure In Two Wrecks Within A Matter Of Minutes

Two area drivers experienced double trouble as the result of two accidents within 15 minutes of each other on Route 170, a half-mile north of Route 30, Saturday night.

When Ralph E. Lockhart, 43, of RD 4 halted his 1964 sedan in a line of traffic, it was struck in the rear by a northbound 1966 sedan operated by Gene Allen Rose, 37, of Cannons Mills Rd.

Rose was cited by the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon for failing to stop in the assured clear distance.

WHILE the cars were still at the scene, a sedan operated by Sandra J. Pridemore, 19, of Mt. Acre Trailer Ct., struck the rear of the Rose auto, pushing it into the Lockhart auto.

Miss Pridemore was cited for failing to stop in the assured clear distance. The first accident was timed at 8:30 and the second at 8:45.

The Rose car received heavy damage to both the front and rear end, the Lockhart auto was damaged severely in the rear and the Pridemore vehicle in the front.

Miss Pridemore complained of injuries and said she would consult her physician.

A Salineville man was cited for speed excessive for conditions as the result of an accident on Route 644, a mile northwest of Salineville, early Saturday morning.

Saltsman complained of injuries, but apparently was not treated.

A ROGERS woman was uninjured when she lost control of the auto she was driving and struck guardrails on Route 7, a mile south of Rogers at 1:15 p.m. Saturday.

Lois Mae Burris, 36, of Rogers was driving in the northbound lane when an auto approaching from the south started to pass another southbound vehicle and she applied the brakes, lost control of her vehicle, then spun around into the southbound lane, striking the guardrails.

Betty R. Almy, 34, of Lisbon RD 1 escaped injury when she lost control of her 1968 station wagon while driving south on Blair Rd., two miles west of Route 164 at 7 p.m. Saturday, and her auto struck a bridge abutment.

Some time Sunday, about a half-mile south of Route 170 on Route 30, a truck belonging to the Concrete Construction Truck Co. of Cleveland went off the west side of the road, struck the guardrail, then went off the east side of the road and struck another guardrail.

on the ship proved that." But he added that the records were "conveniently either destroyed by them (the South Koreans) or at least never produced."

Asked about secret equipment and documents on the intelligence ship, Bucher said: "We made an attempt to destroy everything. We did not complete it."

Men Beaten

He said the crewmen were subjected to beatings and terror in captivity, and many still had black eyes and bruised ribs from beatings as recent as last week. Bucher himself walked with a slight limp. He said he had been kicked occasionally and the Koreans are "quite good at soccer."

Bucher said he was kept in solitary confinement "the entire 11 months" but he was not beaten as much as the other crewmen.

"I was mostly terrified of possible beatings," he said. "We went through a harassment period that was never ending. Continued repetition of charges against us, which, eventually, of course, were admitted by myself in order to save some people from some fairly serious misfortunes.

"But I never doubted in my mind that the United States government ever considered that I had disobeyed wilfully or intentionally the instructions that I had received.

"Any doctoring of the record that has been done since that time (the capture) in the phony press conferences we held up north . . . would never stand up to the court of law."

The North Korean radio meanwhile boasted that the U.S. imperialists bent the knee again to the Korean people. The Korean Central News Agency claimed the Pueblo crew, before their release, "confessed their crimes of espionage and intrusion into North Korea's territorial waters" at a news conference.

It said Hodges "met his death foolishly and recklessly resisting, disobeying the order of the naval force of the Korean people's army."

Release Text Revealed

Washington released a text of the statement signed by Maj. Gen. Gilbert Woodward, the chief negotiator in the series of 29 meetings to obtain the release.

It said the U.S. government acknowledged "the validity of the confessions of the crew of the USS Pueblo . . . , shoulders full responsibility and solemnly apologizes for the grave acts of espionage . . . and gives firm assurance that no U.S. ships will intrude again in the future into the territorial waters of the Democratic People's Republic of Korea."

But before signing it, the North Koreans allowed Woodward to reaffirm the U.S. insistence of its innocence in the affair.

Charges Denied

He declared: "There is no convincing evidence that the ship at any time intruded into the territorial waters claimed by North Korea, and that we could not apologize for actions which we did not believe took place.

"The document which I am going to sign was prepared by the North Koreans and is at variance with the above position, but my signature will not and cannot alter the facts. I will sign the document to free the crew and only to free the crew."

Secretary of State Dean Rusk said in Washington that North Korea's acceptance of the document under those circumstances was a "strange procedure" but that it apparently appealed to the Korean Communists because they see "propaganda value even in a worthless document."

Rusk said efforts will be made to regain the ship, but State Department officials said no more private meetings were planned at Panmunjom to obtain its release.

President Johnson issued a statement expressing gratification at the release of the men and calling their detention "totally unjustified." He thanked their families for "the understanding they showed through the long, painful period during which their government has sought to free the men" and expressed hope they would be reunited before Christmas.

"All Americans are delighted and relieved," said President-elect Nixon.

have promised pictures to the world as a Christmas present and they hinted they'll accompany them with an appropriate message for the season, possibly a wish for world peace and unity.

Borman, a lay reader at an Episcopal church near the Space Center, left a recorded message behind on earth—to be played at Christmas services in the church.

The astronauts will be behind the moon, out of radio communication with the ground, when they execute the critical engine firing that will propel them into moon orbit. The world will hold its breath for several minutes until Apollo 8 appears again around the lunar edge.

For two orbits, Apollo 8 is to circle in an elliptical orbit ranging from 69 to 196 miles high. Later, they will circularize the path at the 69-mile altitude.

After 10 orbits, the engine is to be fired again to boost Apollo 8 out of orbit and send it streaking back to earth and a splashdown in the Pacific Ocean Friday.

Unless weather improves in the planned landing zone south of Hawaii, the astronauts might have to shift their splashdown point. Heavy showers and rain were forecast.

ter, Barbara—are to Almighty God, who in His infinite mercy has seen fit to return our beloved daughter safely to our family," Mackle said.

Barbara was freed from the box when the kidnapers, ransom money in hand, telephoned the Federal Bureau of Investigation in Atlanta with directions to the site of her North Georgia burial.

Weakened, dehydrated and 10 pounds lighter, Barbara smiled radiantly Sunday.

"I just feel wonderful and I just want to thank everybody for their prayers and their concern for both myself and my family," she said.

A few hours later Gary Steven Krist, a husky 23-year-old escaped convict, was booked into the Dade County jail in Miami on a kidnaping charge.

Kris was held in a safety cell in lieu of $500,000 bond, the amount of the ransom.

A posse captured Krist early Sunday on wild, swampy Hog Island on Florida's lower Gulf Coast. The FBI said he carried a suitcase containing about $18,000 in $20 bills. Another $480,000 in 20s was found nearby in the rotting hull of an abandoned boat.

The ransom was paid in used, wrinkled $20s.

Krist, suffering from exhaustion, was taken to a Fort Myers hospital where he was later arraigned on the kidnap charge.

The FBI refused comment Sunday on its search for Ruth Eisemann-Schier, 26, for whom it also has issued a kidnap warrant. She worked alongside Krist at the University of Miami Institute of Marine Science.

The FBI also refused to say whether other persons were sought in connection with the kidnaping.

Krist was identified by the FBI through a tracer on license plates found on a car abandoned by two men during an aborted attempt to collect the ransom Thursday. The $500,000 was again dropped for the kidnapers in a Miami shopping center parking lot Friday morning.

The FBI said a car rented in Miami Springs under the name of George Deacon—a Krist alias—was found Friday at West Palm Beach.

A boat dealer at West Palm Beach said he sold a $2,300 boat to an "Arthur Horowitz," who paid for it with $20 bills from a money-stuffed suitcase.

The boat traveled the St. Lucie and Caloosahatchee canals to Florida's West Coast Friday night and Saturday, the FBI said. The Horowitz name was signed to forms at four navigation locks.

The FBI closed in on its quarry Saturday when agents in helicopters spotted Krist's boat in the mouth of Charlotte Harbor. He beached the boat on Hog Island and was found in the mangrove swamps about 12 hours later.

The kidnaping occurred early Tuesday morning at a motel in Atlanta where Barbara attends Emory University. She was in a room with her mother when the kidnapers forced entry by pretending to be police.

Mrs. Mackle said the kidnap pair included a young white man and a boy of about 12.

Barbara's kidnapers later placed her in the wooden box and buried the box under 18 inches of dirt in an isolated woodland 20 miles northeast of Atlanta.

For 80 hours—clad in a red and white checkered nightgown and a sweater—she was confined to the box, breathing through tubes reaching to the surface.

miles of the patrol base and of the truce site early today, dropping nearly 200 tons of explosives on "enemy activity, base camps, storage areas and bunker complexes," the U.S. Command said.

Closer to Saigon, 400 North Vietnamese troops slashed into a South Vietnamese infantry company 16 miles southeast of the capital and triggered a seven-hour battle that raged until early today.

The North Vietnamese killed 12 government soldiers and wounded 36 out of the 150-man company before two U.S. Navy helicopter gunships helped break up the three-prong attack. A government spokesman said a sweep of the battlefield at daybreak turned up 64 enemy bodies and 22 abandoned weapons.

U.S. Bases Pounded

During the night Viet Cong and North Vietnamese gunners also fired 100 rounds of 100-pound rockets and mortars at three allied air bases and the headquarters of the U.S. 9th Infantry Division.

Four rockets fell short and crashed into a sleeping village on the outskirts of the Da Nang air base, killing 12 civilians and wounding 19. Several American troops also were reported wounded at Da Nang, but there were no reports of any U.S. planes hit.

Rockets and mortars also fell on the Pleiku and Kontum airfields, about 25 miles apart in the central highlands. Three transport planes and two houses were damaged at Pleiku.

No U.S. casualties were reported in the 30-round mortar attack on the 9th Division headquarters, at Dong Tam, 40 miles southwest of Saigon.

A broadcast by the National Liberation Front, political arm of the Viet Cong, indicated the Viet Cong is ready to release American prisoners throughout South Vietnam. U.S. officials were skeptical but left the door open for a possible extension of the 24-hour allied Christmas cease-fire that begins at 6 p.m. Tuesday—5 a.m. EST.

Officers said the holdup man used a .32-caliber automatic pistol. The victims said the gunman was 6 feet 2 and weighed about 210. About 24 years old, he wore a gray jacket and green trousers in addition to the ski mask.

Police said the loot was the private funds of the two victims and none of the station receipts was taken.

Mills, preparing to go off duty, apparently had turned over the station's cash to Davis just a short time before the stickup.

DAVIS SAID he reported for work just a few minutes before the holdup. He said he and Mills were in the station's office while he took over from Mills. The stranger entered with the ski mask over his face and went into the service bay.

"But I didn't think anything about it," Davis said. "I just thought it was some guy acting crazy."

THE MIDWAY Diner holdup was timed at 1:51 this morning. Mrs. Isabell Moore, a waitress, told police she was working behind the counter when she looked out a window and saw a man approaching from the west side of the building with a ski mask on his face.

"I think we are going to be robbed," she said to the three customers jestingly. Then the man walked in the door with the gun in his hand and ordered the waitress and the patrons to lie on the floor.

The man fired a shot into the ceiling and declared: "I mean business. The next shot will be at one of you."

Mrs. Mabel Blake of Fairview Rd., Chester, a cook, walked from the kitchen to the counter to find what the disturbance was about. She also was ordered to lie on the floor.

Then the bandit ordered Mrs. Moore to get the money from the register. She handed him the cash and he left. One of the male customers went to the phone in the dining room and called police.

Lt. Paul A. Burson Jr., and Patrolmen Arthur Peters and Bruce Conkle investigated.

Two Men Are Treated After Hancock Mishap

Two Pittsburgh men were treated Sunday at City Hospital for injuries suffered in a one-car accident on Route 30 at the intersection of the Johnsonville Rd., near "Taylor's Bend."

Treated were the driver, James Thomas Cunningham, 19, a laceration of the right index finger, and a pssenger, David Graham, 21, contusions of the left knee.

CUNNINGHAM told the Hancock County sheriff's office that his 1963 auto was westbound when it struck loose gravel, went out of control and veered over an embankment and into a hollow.

The vehicle was termed a total loss. The accident was timed at 12:22 a.m.

A 37-year-old Midland man was cited for pulling into a line of oncoming traffic in a two-car accident at 7:50 a.m. Sunday in front of the Cactus Bar along Route 30.

Robert S. Duffy of Midland was cited when his 1968 auto pulled from the parking lot into a line of traffic and was struck by a 1967 four - door operated by Ronald Leslie Hughes, 51, of Smithfield, Pa.

Hughes, westbound, said he was approaching the entrance of the lot when the Duffy car pulled in front of him.

TWO Cleveland residents were injured Sunday at 1:28 p.m. when the auto in which they were passengers was struck by another vehicle on Route 2 at the Newell Bridge.

Gerarda Montesento, 26, and Sophia Montesento, 3, of Cleveland were to see their family doctor for injuries of the forehead suffered in the accident, police said.

The crash occurred when the brakes locked on a southbound 1965 auto operated by Michael Lee Manley, 19, of 930 Phoenix Ave., Chester, as he tried to halt for a northbound vehicle turning onto the bridge.

Manley told deputies that he tried to control the car's direction but that it skidded into a 1964 auto, also southbound, operated by Harry Warren Lowery, 55, of 238 W. 7th St., East Liverpool, waiting to turn onto the span. The Montesentos were passengers in the Lowery car.

He was treated at the hospital for stab wounds of the neck, apparently self-inflicted.

Prepares Economic Message

LBJ Wants To Continue Foreign Spending Curbs

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, giving an advance peek at some suggestions he's likely to make in his final economic message, has called for continuing stringent efforts to control the balance of payments deficit.

The direction of Johnson recommendations for 1969 which will go to Congress some time before he steps out Jan. 20, was indicated Sunday in an exchange of letters between the President and Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler.

Johnson endorsed recommendations in a report prepared by Fowler as chairman of the Cabinet Committee on Balance of Payments on ways to further reduce the deficit.

The recommendations amounted to further doses of the medicine Johnson prescribed Jan. 1, 1967 to curb the imbalance between spending by Americans and the U.S. government abroad over what this country receives from abroad.

But at least one of the recommendations—continued limits on capital and other investments U.S. firms can make abroad—could be headed for trouble if included in Johnson's final economic message.

Economic advisers to President-elect Richard M. Nixon, who will have to decide which measures to continue, have spoken against these limitations.

And some of Johnson's own advisers have, too.

Johnson said the recommendations on the balance of payments were being readied now "to facilitate an effective transition to the new administration and the orderly development of future policies in this important area."

Fowler's report gives top priority to "a stable economy and restoration of a healthy United States trade surplus."

It also includes such other principal timbers of the 1968 program as:

—Extension of the voluntary program under which U.S. banks have slashed their lending to foreigners.

—Further efforts to cut military spending abroad.

—Renewed efforts to lure more foreign travelers to the United States, the better to reduce the "travel deficit."

While the United States has been in a deficit position consistently for years—more money going out than coming in—the $3.6 billion deficit in 1967 was far heavier than usual and almost three times the size of the 1965 and 1966 deficits.

'Johnny Appleseed' Joins Festivals List

LISBON — The Johnny Appleseed Festival held here in September for the first time is now a member of the Ohio Festivals and Events Association.

The Lisbon association applied for membership last year while "Johnny Appleseed" was in the planning stage. Acceptance of the application was announced recently, officers said, and will give the local event the benefit of nationwide advertising and the opportunity to exchange ideas with sponsors of similar festivals.

Robert McNally, festival chairman, has called a planning session for Jan. 20 in the Council room at Village Hall.

Another Space Show Set By Astronauts On Apollo

By HARRY F. ROSENTHAL
Associated Press Writer

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The first televised view of earth from deep space was a flop Sunday—but not to the mother of astronaut James A. Lovell Jr. No mother ever got a son's birthday greeting from farther away.

Experts at the Space Center were still trying early today to come up with a solution to Apollo 8's television problem for today's telecast.

Sunday's show, the first of seven planned for the Apollo 8 moon mission, was to have been in two parts. First, the interior of the spacecraft with a wide-angle lens; then a telephoto view of the receding earth that should have shown all of the United States, western Canada, the Gulf of Mexico and down to half of Antarctica.

The interior shots transmitted from 140,000 miles away were beautiful—of better quality than those taken inside Apollo 7 in October when the ship was about 130 miles above the earth.

Viewers could see clearly Air Force Col. Frank Borman in the spacecraft commander's position, Navy Capt. Lovell in the equipment bay fixing lunch and Air Force Maj. William A. Anders demonstrating weightlessness by trying to snag his floating toothbrush with his teeth—like a child bobbing for an apple.

But when Anders put on the telephoto lens the screen went blank.

"You don't have a lens cover on there?" Mission control asked.

"No," said Borman. "We checked that, as a matter of fact."

"We have a picture," said mission control, "only it is a little difficult to see what we have."

The earth, which Borman described as "a beautiful, beautiful view with a predominantly blue background and just huge covers of white clouds," showed on the TV screens like a single lighted porthole of a ship on a dark sea.

"Perhaps we will get some assistance from the people on the ground and be able to determine why this other lens is not transmitting properly," said Borman, addrssing the TV audience on earth.

Mission control asked for "a couple of words on your health to the wide world," and Borman said:

"We feel fine. It was a very exciting ride on that big Saturn but it worked perfectly. We are looking forward, of course, now for the day after tomorrow (Tuesday) when we will be just 60 miles away from the moon."

Later the Space Center conjectured that an automatic light control—reading the blackness of space—was fooled by the brilliance of the earth's reflected light. One solution being discussed was the use or ordinary lenses from other cameras aboard Apollo 8.

As Borman commented that Lovell was ahead in the beard-growing race, Lovell stuck his head into the foreground and said: "Happy birthday, mother."

"I just can't get over it," she said, "when they had so many things to do in space that he would think of his mother on her birthday."

Body Found Along Beach At Cleveland

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Homicides detectives were awaiting a coroner's ruling in the death of Laura F. Baker, 50, whose partially buried body was found Saturday on a Lake Erie Beach.

She had been missing since Dec. 13 when she left home with about $100 to do some Christmas shopping downtown. Her husband, Russell E. Baker, said he believes she was robbed, beaten and left to die.

Police say there apparently were no marks of violence on the body and that the cause of death is undetermined.

Mrs. Baker's body was discovered on Edgewater Beach by four boys. Her clothes were frozen to her body and her shoes were missing.

Her sand-filled purse was found Friday near a bridge crossing Interstate 71, far from where the body was located.

The person who found it told Baker there was no money in the purse.

Baker last heard from his wife at 6:30 p.. the day she went shopping. She called him and their 12-year-old daughter Cindy to say she would be home shortly.

When she did not return, Baker filed a missing person report.

Baker is a ham radio operator who listens occasionally to police calls. When he heard a call about an unidentified woman's body being found, he called police, suspecting it was his wife.

They took him to the county morgue where he made the identification.

Girl Found Murdered In Warren Area

WARREN, Ohio (AP) — The Cuyahoga County Coroner's office at Cleveland will perform an autopsy on a 20-year-old Warren girl, the victim of a brutal beating last week.

The body of Mary J. Pringle was found Saturday evening in a farm field in Braceville Township 10 miles southwest of here.

The body was discovered by a Trumbull County special deputy out looking for a Christmas tree.

About $115 that she was known to have with her was missing along with her glasses and a blue tote bag.

Sheriff's deputies said she had been dragged from the nearby Kale-Adams Road across a barbed wire fence and into the field. They said a pair of men's red suspenders was used to drag her.

Her water had been broken and was stopped at 9:30 p.m.

Dr. Joseph Sudimack Jr., county coroner, said the girl died of a fractured skull and sent the body to Cleveland for the possible detection of clues to the circumstances of her death.

She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Pringle. She was last seen Friday afternoon and her father filed a missing person report Saturday morning.

New Center In Haifa

HAIFA, Israel (AP) — One of Israel's biggest community centers is rising at Kiryat Eliezer, Haifa. The $300,000, three-floor building, financed by the Pioneer Women of the United States, will contain a kindergarten, clubhouse, cultural and study rooms and a community hall.

Personalities In The News

The 66-year-old senator, the 1948 Dixiecrat presidential candidate, and Miss Moore said their vows at a private ceremony at the Aiken Presbyterian Church.

Only 35 persons, 26 of them relatives of the couple, were invited to the wedding. Dr. J. William Thurmond was his brother's best man. Miss Moore's maid of honor was her sister, Ardene Carol Moore of Lexington, Ky. Her father, Paul R. Moore, gave her in marriage.

The couple posed for wedding pictures and held a reception at the church after the ceremony. Thurmond said a public reception will be held later.

Other than relatives, only close aides and friends of Thurmond and the Moore family attended. About 150 persons gathered outside the church.

Thurmond had said Miss Moore, who was Miss South Carolina in 1966, preferred a ceremony without the confusion that spectators and photographers might cause.

Apparently angered over what he said was the "undignified" publicity given to the age difference of the couple when the engagement was announced, Thurmond had refused to make public any plans for the wedding—even the date, time and place.

LONDON (AP) — Dame Sybil Thorndike and Sir Lewis Casson, who spent their long careers on the stage, celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary Sunday.

Sir Lewis, 93, and Dame Sybil, 86, were in a play together when they became engaged and they appeared together as recently as last July. They have four children, 10 grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

Sir Lewis says he plans to retire from the stage and do some broadcasting. Dame Sybil is looking for another play.

"You've got to be pals to make marriage last," said Dame Sybil. "Idyllic love that brings you together obviously cannot continue for a lifetime."

GREAT FALLS, Mont. (AP) — Joel Douglas, son of actor Kirk Douglas, and Susan Jorgenson of Great Falls were married Sunday night in a small wedding attended by close friends.

The groom's mother, Mrs. William Darrid of Westport, Conn., attended, but his father was absent.

Following a honeymoon skiing trip to Canada the younger Douglas will return to studies at the University of Montana where he is a drama major.

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Dr. Rollin E. Drake an 1888 graduate of the University of Michigan School of Dentistry, will be dean for-a-day at the school Saturday, the day he is 100 years old.

Drake practiced in Negaunee, Mich., until he retired.

Students Set To March In 'Gratitude'

CINCINNATI (AP) — Negro students at a school in Avondale, a section still scarred by riots of the past two years, planned to march on the city's law enforcement agencies and fire stations today—but it's a march of gratitude rather than of protest.

The demonstrations are planned through Christmas Eve. Approximately 200 students, most of them teen-agers, from Samuel Ach Junior High School will be carrying 3,000 boxes of candy to police, firemen, court and probation officials and the FBI.

There'll be a fruit cake for each of the officers' wives, a file cabinet for most of the stations, a new flag and a door mat.

"We've named it 'Operation Other Side of Christmas," said Roger Tilford, a social studies teacher at Samuel Ach who helped the students organize their efforts.

Body Found Along Beach At Cleveland

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Homicides detectives were awaiting a coroner's ruling in the death of Laura F. Baker, 50, whose partially buried body was found Saturday on a Lake Erie Beach.

She had been missing since Dec. 13 when she left home with about $100 to do some Christmas shopping downtown. Her husband, Russell E. Baker, said he believes she was robbed, beaten and left to die.

Police say there apparently were no marks of violence on the body and that the cause of death is undetermined.

Mrs. Baker's body was discovered on Edgewater Beach by four boys. Her clothes were frozen to her body and her shoes were missing.

Her sand-filled purse was found Friday near a bridge crossing Interstate 71, far from where the body was located.

The person who found it told Baker there was no money in the purse.

Baker last heard from his wife at 6:30 p.. the day she went shopping. She called him and their 12-year-old daughter Cindy to say she would be home shortly.

When she did not return, Baker filed a missing person report.

Baker is a ham radio operator who listens occasionally to police calls. When he heard a call about an unidentified woman's body being found, he called police, suspecting it was his wife.

They took him to the county morgue where he made the identification.

Girl Found Murdered In Warren Area

WARREN, Ohio (AP) — The Cuyahoga County Coroner's office at Cleveland will perform an autopsy on a 20-year-old Warren girl, the victim of a brutal beating last week.

The body of Mary J. Pringle was found Saturday evening in a farm field in Braceville Township 10 miles southwest of here.

The body was discovered by a Trumbull County special deputy out looking for a Christmas tree.

About $115 that she was known to have with her was missing along with her glasses and a blue tote bag.

Sheriff's deputies said she had been dragged from the nearby Kale-Adams Road across a barbed wire fence and into the field. They said a pair of men's red suspenders was used to drag her.

Her watcr had been broken and was stopped at 9:30 p.m.

Dr. Joseph Sudimack Jr., county coroner, said the girl died of a fractured skull and sent the body to Cleveland for the possible detection of clues to the circumstances of her death.

She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Pringle. She was last seen Friday afternoon and her father filed a missing person report Saturday morning.

New Center In Haifa

HAIFA, Israel (AP) — One of Israel's biggest community centers is rising at Kiryat Eliezer, Haifa. The $300,000, three-floor building, financed by the Pioneer Women of the United States, will contain a kindergarten, clubhouse, cultural and study rooms and a community hall.

Personalities In The News

The 66-year-old senator, the 1948 Dixiecrat presidential candidate, and Miss Moore said their vows at a private ceremony at the Aiken Presbyterian Church.

Only 35 persons, 26 of them relatives of the couple, were invited to the wedding. Dr. J. William Thurmond was his brother's best man. Miss Moore's maid of honor was her sister, Ardene Carol Moore of Lexington, Ky. Her father, Paul R. Moore, gave her in marriage.

The couple posed for wedding pictures and held a reception at the church after the ceremony. Thurmond said a public reception will be held later.

Other than relatives, only close aides and friends of Thurmond and the Moore family attended. About 150 persons gathered outside the church.

Thurmond had said Miss Moore, who was Miss South Carolina in 1966, preferred a ceremony without the confusion that spectators and photographers might cause.

Apparently angered over what he said was the "undignified" publicity given to the age difference of the couple when the engagement was announced, Thurmond had refused to make public any plans for the wedding—even the date, time and place.

LONDON (AP) — Dame Sybil Thorndike and Sir Lewis Casson, who spent their long careers on the stage, celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary Sunday.

Sir Lewis, 93, and Dame Sybil, 86, were in a play together when they became engaged and they appeared together as recently as last July. They have four children, 10 grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

Sir Lewis says he plans to retire from the stage and do some broadcasting. Dame Sybil is looking for another play.

"You've got to be pals to make marriage last," said Dame Sybil. "Idyllic love that brings you together obviously cannot continue for a lifetime."

GREAT FALLS, Mont. (AP) — Joel Douglas, son of actor Kirk Douglas, and Susan Jorgenson of Great Falls were married Sunday night in a small wedding attended by close friends.

The groom's mother, Mrs. William Darrid of Westport, Conn., attended, but his father was absent.

Following a honeymoon skiing trip to Canada the younger Douglas will return to studies at the University of Montana where he is a drama major.

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Dr. Rollin E. Drake an 1888 graduate of the University of Michigan School of Dentistry, will be dean for-a-day at the school Saturday, the day he is 100 years old.

Drake practiced in Negaunee, Mich., until he retired.

Students Set To March In 'Gratitude'

CINCINNATI (AP) — Negro students at a school in Avondale, a section still scarred by riots of the past two years, planned to march on the city's law enforcement agencies and fire stations today—but it's a march of gratitude rather than of protest.

The demonstrations are planned through Christmas Eve. Approximately 200 students, most of them teen-agers, from Samuel Ach Junior High School will be carrying 3,000 boxes of candy to police, firemen, court and probation officials and the FBI.

There'll be a fruit cake for each of the officers' wives, a file cabinet for most of the stations, a new flag and a door mat.

"We've named it 'Operation Other Side of Christmas," said Roger Tilford, a social studies teacher at Samuel Ach who helped the students organize their efforts.

Political Tide Brings In Mort

People were coming up to humorist Mort Sahl before the election and saying, "Hey, if Nixon is elected, it'll be good for you." Sahl's reply was, "Look, don't do it for me."

Hal Humphrey

The fact is that Nixon's becoming President is good for Sahl. Already he's receiving offers to appear on TV shows and in night clubs which heretofore had been ignoring him.

"It's really funny," Sahl observes. "People say I've changed, that I'm not bitter any more. Well, it's not me that changed. It's them, the liberals who want to see me give it to Nixon. They'll hold my coat for me now."

SAHL IS RIGHT. The liberals loved him during Dwight Eisenhower's tenure in the White House, and Sahl's career flourished. But when John Kennedy was elected, the liberals expected Sahl to change his tune. He didn't. Shal kept right on hurling his pointed barbs at the foibles of man, be he Democrat or Republican.

"I had the feeling that the only people who opposed President Johnson during his first two years in the White House were me and Ho Chi Minh," Sahl recalls. "But now people come up to me and say, 'You're funny again.' I'm funny again? I was reading from the Warren Commission report on Jack Kennedy's assassination."

It was Sahl's constant harping that the President Kennedy killing was a conspiracy which contributed to Sahl's losing his local TV show more than a year ago. He still believes that New Orleans Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison's charges against Clay Shaw will stick. Shaw's trial is scheduled for Jan. 21.

"JOHNNY CARSON is the only one I haven't heard from since the election. The last time I was on 'Tonight' show was the week before I arranged for Garrison to be on it. Carson has had reruns of shows with me, but not me, personally," Sahl reports.

This month, so far, Sahl has appeared on Merv Griffin and Joey Bishop's shows. He will do Dick Cavett's morning show for an entire week starting Jan. 6. He's also a guest on ABC's "That's Life" for New Year's Eve.

"Baby sitters everywhere will see it," says Sahl. "It's an experience to work on 'That's Life' — I already taped it — because the producer, Marvin Marx, and everyone on it is convinced he's doing 'War and Peace,' since their rating is so low."

SAHL HAS a seven-minute roundup of world events which he does on "That's Life." He's also set to do three Smothers Brothers shows soon. Between now and then Sahl will continue to work night clubs and college dates.

"The kids are great. They come up to me after the show and say, 'We agree with everything except your optimism.' At least they don't say I've changed," says Sahl.

Before the election, Sahl frequently was asked how he intended to vote, and his answer was, "If I take a long look at Nixon, I'm moved to vote for Humphrey, provided I don't look too long."

After the election Sahl commented :"If Nixon had run unopposed, he'd have lost. Now he's sitting in his suite on the 39th floor of the Hotel Pierre, overlooking our problems. He's failed upward."

WHEN SAHL saw a picture of that sign Gen. Eisenhower held out of the hospital window on his 78th birthday (it read, "Make it a Happy 78th for Me — Vote for Dick"), he said, "Frankly I'd planned on getting Ike something smaller."

A call recently from Playboy magazine that it wanted him for one of its in-depth interviews was one of the first indications Sahl got that the liberals were ready to forgive him and accept his acerbic character back into the fold, so to speak. He also received a $1,000 bonus for a recent stint at Mr. Kelly's, a Chicago night spot, because of the business he brought in during his engagement.

At any rate, it's good to have Sahl back, even though the liberals believe he's changed.

Israel Aid Increases

TEL AVIV (AP) — Jews outside the United States have increased their contributions to Israel by 12 times in the year since the 1967 Middle East War, the United Israel Appeal announced. No figures were available, but it was believed donations ran to about $14 million a year before the war.

New Orleans Convicts Kick Hole In Wall

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Twenty-one convicts, three of them sentenced to death, were at large today after kicking their way out of New Orleans' prison.

Louis Heyd, Orleans Parish (county) criminal sheriff, termed the men extremely dangerous. Four were convicted of murder, 12 of armed robbery. All were awaiting the outcome of legal appeals.

The prisoners were missed at a head count at 5:30 a.m. Sunday. But officers figured they broke out about five hours earlier.

"I'm not surprised," said Heyd, who has long complained about prison facilities and conditions. "It was just a matter of kicking through the roof. This damn place is a crackerbox."

Warden A. J. Falkenstein said the men broke into a fourth floor utilities locker room, then into the attic.

From there, they crawled through an air vent to the roof, and moved to the roof of the adjoining Criminal Courts building. They shattered a skylight over a judge's chamber, lowered themselves down on a rope of knotted prison uniforms, broke down a locked door to the second floor corridor and walked out of the unlocked building.

Garageman Found Shot

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A 36-year-old Cleveland garage operator was found shot to death Sunday. His body had been stuffed into the trunk of a 1963 automobile parked at an apartment-house lot.

Police said Tristano (Pat) Lunato, was found by his wife, Wanda, and a friend who last saw Lunato alive at 1 a.m. Frida. Lunato had been shot once in the chest.

A cartridge slug fell from his clothing when the body was transferred to a stretcher. It is being examined by Detective Capt. Jerome Poelking of the police scientific investigation unit.

Lunato was the father of three children, ages 3 to 7.

"I don't know why anyone would do this to him," said his wife. "He was a kind man and a good father."

She had reported her husband missing when he failed to return from bowling Thursday evening. She said she learned that her husband had gone to see a friend at an East Side cafe. The friend said Lunato left the cafe at 1 a.m. Friday.

ROSWELL, N. M. (AP) — A computer at the Eastern New Mexico State Fair in Roswell recently returned these remarks when Gov. David F. Cargo fed in his signature.

"You derive a lot of pleasure from discussion of the issues of the day. You are well qualified to direct people in the field of learning. Unique experiences have given you great love for others. You believe in the powers of persuasion, but never abuse it."

The governor said he "had known this all along."

7, WQED, Peter and the Wolf: Prokofiev's "Peter and the Wolf" associates an instrument in the orchestra and a tune with each character. The puppets of Bil and Cora Baird act out the story of a little boy alone in the woods, as part of the puppet play by A. J. Russell, in which the wolf, with a little sympathy from Art Carney, tries to prove he's not such a bad sort after all.

8, WTRF, WIIC, Laugh-In: Tiny Tim does his thing — "Tiptoe Thru The Tulips"—as well as an interview with the hosts.

9, WTRF, WIIC, Movie: "The Pad," the story of a girl-shy music lover who finally has his first date.

Israel Aid Increases

TEL AVIV (AP) — Jews outside the United States have increased their contributions to Israel by 12 times in the year since the 1967 Middle East War, the United Israel Appeal announced. No figures were available, but it was believed donations ran to about $14 million a year before the war.

New Orleans Convicts Kick Hole In Wall

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Twenty-one convicts, three of them sentenced to death, were at large today after kicking their way out of New Orleans' prison.

Louis Heyd, Orleans Parish (county) criminal sheriff, termed the men extremely dangerous. Four were convicted of murder, 12 of armed robbery. All were awaiting the outcome of legal appeals.

The prisoners were missed at a head count at 5:30 a.m. Sunday. But officers figured they broke out about five hours earlier.

"I'm not surprised," said Heyd, who has long complained about prison facilities and conditons. "It was just a matter of kicking through the roof. This damn place is a crackerbox."

Warden A. J. Falkenstein said the men broke into a fourth floor utilities locker room, then into the attic.

From there, they crawled through an air vent to the roof, and moved to the roof of the adjoining Criminal Courts building. They shattered a skylight over a judge's chamber, lowered themselves down on a rope of knotted prison uniforms, broke down a locked door to the second floor corridor and walked out of the unlocked building.

Garageman Found Shot

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A 36-year-old Cleveland garage operator was found shot to death Sunday. His body had been stuffed into the trunk of a 1963 automobile parked at an apartment-house lot.

Police said Tristano (Pat) Lunato, was found by his wife, Wanda, and a friend who last saw Lunato alive at 1 a.m. Frida. Lunato had been shot once in the chest.

A cartridge slug fell from his clothing when the body was transferred to a stretcher. It is being examined by Detective Capt. Jerome Poelking of the police scientific investigation unit.

Lunato was the father of three children, ages 3 to 7.

"I don't know why anyone would do this to him," said his wife. "He was a kind man and a good father."

She had reported her husband missing when he failed to return from bowling Thursday evening. She said she learned that her husband had gone to see a friend at an East Side cafe. The friend said Lunato left the cafe at 1 a.m. Friday.

Computer Affirms What Governor Knew

ROSWELL, N. M. (AP) — A computer at the Eastern New Mexico State Fair in Roswell recently returned these remarks when Gov. David F. Cargo fed in his signature.

"You derive a lot of pleasure from discussion of the issues of the day. You are well qualified to direct people in the field of learning. Unique experiences have given you great love for others. You believe in the powers of persuasion, but never abuse it."

The governor said he "had known this all along."

ANN LANDERS

Weigh-In Stirs A Strip

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: My sister-in-law has been bragging for years that she still weighs 113 pounds, the same as when she was married 16 years ago. Molly has a good figure but she's no 113 pounds.

Last night we had a party at our house for 10 couples. Everyone was feeling pretty good. Molly was, you might say, stinko. She made the weight brag again — in front of everybody — and it was just once too often for me. I decided to call her bluff and said, "okay, prove it."

I brought the bathroom scale right into the living room and told her to get on it. Molly bellowed, "You bet I will!" With that she kicked off her shoes, whipped off her dress and unhitched her hose from the girdle before anyone could stop her. Her husband dragged her out of the room just as she was unhooking her bra.

Molly's disgraceful behavior is the talk of the town. People have been calling me all morning to ask if it really happened. I'm so mad at her for acting cheap in our home I'd like to kick her in the teeth.

My husband says it's my fault because I baited her. Please give me your opinion of this. — STILL BURNING.

Dear Still: Of course Molly should not have started to peel in your living room, but you invited it, dearie. My opinion is that you should both stick to ginger ale.

Dear Ann: This morning I received an invitation to the 10th anniversary of my high school graduation. My mother says if I don't go I'll never forgive myself.

I'd love to see the kids again, Ann, but I'm ashamed to have them see me. I used to be attractive and happy-go-lucky, but I've had a lot of tough luck these past 10 years — two lousy marriages — and I look like 48 instead of 28. Last year after a bad operation I put on 25 pounds which I can't get rid of.

I'm presently working as a cocktail waitress because I can make more money at this than teaching school. (I support my invalid mother.) I'm not ashamed of my job but I'm afraid my teachers would be disappointed. I was an excellent student and they all predicted great things for me.

If the girls pass around pictures of their children (as they are sure to do), I'd probably go to pieces. I lost two babies at birth and I cry just thinking about them.

Please tell me what to do, Ann. I can't make up my mind. Should I go or not? — LOST MY RABBIT'S FOOT.

Dear Friend: Don't go. Feeling as you do, you'd have a miserable time. Some situations which cause unhappiness are unavoidable, but why go looking for agony?

Set your sights on the 20-year reunion, honey. I hope and pray your next 10 years are better than the last.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

ANN LANDERS

Weigh-In Stirs A Strip

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: My sister-in-law has been bragging for years that she still weighs 113 pounds, the same as when she was married 16 years ago. Molly has a good figure but she's no 113 pounds.

Last night we had a party at our house for 10 couples. Everyone was feeling pretty good. Molly was, you might say, stinko. She made the weight brag again — in front of everybody — and it was just once too often for me. I decided to call her bluff and said, "okay, prove it."

I brought the bathroom scale right into the living room and told her to get on it. Molly bellowed, "You bet I will!" With that she kicked off her shoes, whipped off her dress and unhitched her hose from the girdle before anyone could stop her. Her husband dragged her out of the room just as she was unhooking her bra.

Molly's disgraceful behavior is the talk of the town. People have been calling me all morning to ask if it really happened. I'm so mad at her for acting cheap in our home I'd like to kick her in the teeth.

My husband says it's my fault because I baited her. Please give me your opinion of this. — STILL BURNING.

Dear Still: Of course Molly should not have started to peel in your living room, but you invited it, dearie. My opinion is that you should both stick to ginger ale.

Dear Ann: This morning I received an invitation to the 10th anniversary of my high school graduation. My mother says if I don't go I'll never forgive myself.

I'd love to see the kids again, Ann, but I'm ashamed to have them see me. I used to be attractive and happy-go-lucky, but I've had a lot of tough luck these past 10 years — two lousy marriages — and I look like 48 instead of 28. Last year after a bad operation I put on 25 pounds which I can't get rid of.

I'm presently working as a cocktail waitress because I can make more money at this than teaching school. (I support my invalid mother.) I'm not ashamed of my job but I'm afraid my teachers would be disappointed. I was an excellent student and they all predicted great things for me.

If the girls pass around pictures of their children (as they are sure to do), I'd probably go to pieces. I lost two babies at birth and I cry just thinking about them.

Please tell me what to do, Ann. I can't make up my mind. Should I go or not? — LOST MY RABBIT'S FOOT.

Dear Friend: Don't go. Feeling as you do, you'd have a miserable time. Some situations which cause unhappiness are unavoidable, but why go looking for agony?

Set your sights on the 20-year reunion, honey. I hope and pray your next 10 years are better than the last.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

The DOCTOR Says

All Tranquilizers Are Powerful Drugs

Q—I have been taking Serax for a year. Is it habit forming? Are there any bad side effects from it?

Dr. Brandstadt

A — This tranquilizer may be habit forming. Withdrawal of the drug after prolonged use must be gradual. Its side effects include drowsiness, dizziness and headache.

ALL TRANQUILIZERS whether major or minor, and all antidepressants are powerful drugs that may have dangerous side effects. When taking them you should report any unusual symptoms to your doctor at once, and even if you are getting along well you should see him every three or four weeks as long as you are taking these drugs.

Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of The Review. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters, he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

Q — What is Stelazine given for? Are there any bad side effects?

A — This widely used tranquilizer should not be taken by anyone who has a liver disease. Those who do take it should have a blood count at intervals of 10 to 20 days. Side effects from too large a dosage include dryness of the mouth, drowsiness, dizziness and insomnia.

Q — For the past six years I have been taking Thoramine in order to sleep but it gives me nightmares and makes me feel weak. What do you advise?

A — This drug is given to relieve nausea. Nightmares and weakness have not been reported as side effects. You should have your doctor look for the cause of these symptoms and, if necessary, discontinue all medicines or switch to another drug.

Q — What is Triavil given for?

Q — You recently advised against taking Valium, Tofranil and Librium simultaneously. Why? Is there any reason why Tofranil, Nardil and Deprol should not be taken together?

A— Valium and Librium are minor tranquilizers and Tofranil is an antidepressant. Although there may be some justification for taking a tranquilizer with an antidepressant, there can be little reason for taking two tranquilizers at once because, if the desired effect is obtained, your doctor will not know which drug to credit. Deprol is a combined tranquilizer and antidepressant. If it is taken with Tofranil and Nardil you will be taking three different antidepressants at once.

Police Searching For 2 Escapees

CINCINNATI (AP) — Police today were searching for two city workhouse inmates who along with four others scaled a 10-foot fence Sunday in a daylight prison break to freedom.

The breakout was discovered by guards as the six were going over the fence which encloses the workhouse and four were captured within minutes.

The escapees sought were identified as Larry Harris and Monty Morgan, both 18, of Cincinnati.

The guard force at the workhouse declined to give details of the 2:30 p.m. break and it was several hours before it was known publicly just how many had escaped.

One guard said two prisoners were captured as they were climbing the fence and the other two were picked up several blocks away—one of them hiding beneath a boat in a residential garage.

Four Ohioans Named As Rhodes Scholars

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Four Ohioans are among 32 Rhodes Scholars-elect named Sunday by Dr. Courtney Smith, administrative head of Rhodes Scholarships in the United States and president of Swarthmore College.

The names were chosen from across the nation for two and three years' study at Oxford University, England, by the Rhodes Scholarship Trust at Swarthmore.

Ohioans selected were Marc E. Lackritz of Cleveland attending Princeton, Lawrence A. Miller of Cleveland Heights attending Northwestern, Barth D. Schwartz of Dayton who is at Harvard and Grant Crandall of Yellow Springs at Grinnel College.

Man Faces Murder Charge In Shooting

CINCINNATI (AP) — Erwin Williams, 54, of suburban Lincoln Heights was being held in the Hamilton County Jail here today awaiting a court appearance on a charge of first-degree murder in the pistol death of another Lincoln Heights man.

A hearing of the case was scheduled for today.

Williams was arrested shortly after the slaying early Sunday of Johnny Lee, 53. Lee died at General Hospital about an hour after he was shot. The two were attending a party near their homes.

Police said Lee and a third man argued, then struggled and a pistol from Lee's pocket fell to the floor. Police said Williams told officers he picked up the gun and it discharged, the shot hitting Lee.

Thieves Crack Safe

CINCINNATI (AP) — Thieves pounded their way into an office vault at suburban Lincoln Heights High School over the weekend and took $1,500 in cash —receipts of the school's last two basketball games.

Police said entry into the school was made through a rear window and a sledge hammer was used to punch a hole into an inner wall to get at the vault.

Sixty - two per cent of Northwestern University students do not smoke, according to a survey.

Ohioans Tell Of Being Held In Cambodia

By The Associated Press

Army Spec. 4 Donald Grigsby of Springfield said Sunday that his 156 day imprisonment in Cambodia was "an experience that I wouldn't want to go through again."

Grigsby and Spec. 4 Donald E. Price of Columbus were among the 11 U.S. servicemen released by Cambodian Prince Norodom Sihanouk. They were members of a river patrol boat captured on July 17 when it accidentally strayed into Cambodian waters.

"It wasn't so hard to take," Grigsby said. "We weren't actually prisoners of war. Cambodia is a neutral country and we're not at war with them."

Both Grigsby and Price said they were well treated. They said there was no animosity from the Cambodians and that they actually made friends with several.

The servicemen spent their capture at a Cambodian naval training station. "We were treated as well as the Cambodians at the base," Grigsby said. "Our food was good and by Asian standards, our living conditions were good."

Price said that he lost 15 pounds during his confinement. But he added: "You can't get fat eating rice every day."

Grigsby said the biggest problem was all the idle time. "We played volley ball in the afternoon and read a lot of books, he said. "Also letter writing was important and no one kept us from writing or receiving letters.

Neither Price nor Grigsby cared to comment on a letter which the soldiers had admitted writing to Prince Shihanouk criticizing border incidents between the U.S. and Cambodia.

They said that the release came as a surprise. "They just came and told us to pack because we were going home," Grigsby said.

"You'd have thought a hurricane hit the place," Price added.

Both men have until Jan. 6 to spend the holidays with their families. Then trey are to report to Ft. Knox, Ky. Price, whose enlistment period ended Dec. 6, hopes he will get his discharge.

With six months active duty remaining, Grigsby said he will probably be reassigned.

But he said he is certain about one thing in his future:

"I won't re-enlist."

The DOCTOR Says

All Tranquilizers Are Powerful Drugs

Q—I have been taking Serax for a year. Is it habit forming? Are there any bad side effects from it?

Dr. Brandstadt

A — This tranquilizer may be habit forming. Withdrawal of the drug after prolonged use must be gradual. Its side effects include drowsiness, dizziness and headache.

ALL TRANQUILIZERS whether major or minor, and all antidepressants are powerful drugs that may have dangerous side effects. When taking them you should report any unusual symptoms to your doctor at once, and even if you are getting along well you should see him every three or four weeks as long as you are taking these drugs.

Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of The Review. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters, he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

Q — What is Stelazine given for? Are there any bad side effects?

A — This widely used tranquilizer should not be taken by anyone who has a liver disease. Those who do take it should have a blood count at intervals of 10 to 20 days. Side effects from too large a dosage include dryness of the mouth, drowsiness, dizziness and insomnia.

Q — For the past six years I have been taking Thoramine in order to sleep but it gives me nightmares and makes me feel weak. What do you advise?

A — This drug is given to relieve nausea. Nightmares and weakness have not been reported as side effects. You should have your doctor look for the cause of these symptoms and, if necessary, discontinue all medicines or switch to another drug.

Q — What is Triavil given for?

Q — You recently advised against taking Valium, Tofranil and Librium simultaneously. Why? Is there any reason why Tofranil, Nardil and Deprol should not be taken together?

A— Valium and Librium are minor tranquilizers and Tofranil is an antidepressant. Although there may be some justification for taking a tranquilizer with an antidepressant, there can be little reason for taking two tranquilizers at once because, if the desired effect is obtained, your doctor will not know which drug to credit. Deprol is a combined tranquilizer and antidepressant. If it is taken with Tofranil and Nardil you will be taking three different antidepressants at once.

Police Searching For 2 Escapees

CINCINNATI (AP) — Police today were searching for two city workhouse inmates who along with four others scaled a 10-foot fence Sunday in a daylight prison break to freedom.

The breakout was discovered by guards as the six were going over the fence which encloses the workhouse and four were captured within minutes.

The escapees sought were identified as Larry Harris and Monty Morgan, both 18, of Cincinnati.

The guard force at the workhouse declined to give details of the 2:30 p.m. break and it was several hours before it was known publicly just how many had escaped.

One guard said two prisoners were captured as they were climbing the fence and the other two were picked up several blocks away—one of them hiding beneath a boat in a residential garage.

Four Ohioans Named As Rhodes Scholars

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Four Ohioans are among 32 Rhodes Scholars-elect named Sunday by Dr. Courtney Smith, administrative head of Rhodes Scholarships in the United States and president of Swarthmore College.

The names were chosen from across the nation for two and three years' study at Oxford University, England, by the Rhodes Scholarship Trust at Swarthmore.

Ohioans selected were Marc E. Lackritz of Cleveland attending Princeton, Lawrence A. Miller of Cleveland Heights attending Northwestern, Barth D. Schwartz of Dayton who is at Harvard and Grant Crandall of Yellow Springs at Grinnel College.

Man Faces Murder Charge In Shooting

CINCINNATI (AP) — Erwin Williams, 54, of suburban Lincoln Heights was being held in the Hamilton County Jail here today awaiting a court appearance on a charge of first-degree murder in the pistol death of another Lincoln Heights man.

A hearing of the case was scheduled for today.

Williams was arrested shortly after the slaying early Sunday of Johnny Lee, 53. Lee died at General Hospital about an hour after he was shot. The two were attending a party near their homes.

Police said Lee and a third man argued, then struggled and a pistol from Lee's pocket fell to the floor. Police said Williams told officers he picked up the gun and it discharged, the shot hitting Lee.

Thieves Crack Safe

CINCINNATI (AP) — Thieves pounded their way into an office vault at suburban Lincoln Heights High School over the weekend and took $1,500 in cash —receipts of the school's last two basketball games.

Police said entry into the school was made through a rear window and a sledge hammer was used to punch a hole into an inner wall to get at the vault.

Sixty - two per cent of Northwestern University students do not smoke, according to a survey.

Ohioans Tell Of Being Held In Cambodia

By The Associated Press

Army Spec. 4 Donald Grigsby of Springfield said Sunday that his 156 day imprisonment in Cambodia was "an experience that I wouldn't want to go through again."

Grigsby and Spec. 4 Donald E. Price of Columbus were among the 11 U.S. servicemen released by Cambodian Prince Norodom Sihanouk. They were members of a river patrol boat captured on July 17 when it accidentally strayed into Cambodian waters.

"It wasn't so hard to take," Grigsby said. "We weren't actually prisoners of war. Cambodia is a neutral country and we're not at war with them."

Both Grigsby and Price said they were well treated. They said there was no animosity from the Cambodians and that they actually made friends with several.

The servicemen spent their capture at a Cambodian naval training station. "We were treated as well as the Cambodians at the base," Grigsby said. "Our food was good and by Asian standards, our living conditions were good."

Price said that he lost 15 pounds during his confinement. But he added: "You can't get fat eating rice every day."

Grigsby said the biggest problem was all the idle time. "We played volley ball in the afternoon and read a lot of books, he said. "Also letter writing was important and no one kept us from writing or receiving letters.

Neither Price nor Grigsby cared to comment on a letter which the soldiers had admitted writing to Prince Shihanouk criticizing border incidents between the U.S. and Cambodia.

They said that the release came as a surprise. "They just came and told us to pack because we were going home," Grigsby said.

"You'd have thought a hurricane hit the place," Price added.

Both men have until Jan. 6 to spend the holidays with their families. Then trey are to report to Ft. Knox, Ky. Price, whose enlistment period ended Dec. 6, hopes he will get his discharge.

With six months active duty remaining, Grigsby said he will probably be reassigned.

But he said he is certain about one thing in his future:

U.S.-Japan Set Changes At 50 Bases

TOKYO (AP) — Attempting to dampen opposition in Japan, the United States offered today to give up, move or share a third of its bases in Japan.

The offer was accepted, and the two governments said they would begin discussions on the change in status of about 50 of the 148 bases and installations the United States maintains under the U.S.-Japan Security Treaty. The bases were not named.

The agreement was reached at a three-hour session of the security treaty joint consultative committee attended by Foreign Minister Kiichi Aichi; Kuichi Arita, director-general of the Japanese defense agency; U.S. Ambassador U. Alexis Johnson and Adm. John S. McCain Jr., commander of U.S. Naval Forces in the Pacific.

Johnson told a news conference the proposal covers almost half of the total land occupied by U.S. bases and installations in Japan.

After a series of accidents involving U.S. military aircraft and visits to Japanese ports by U.S. nuclear-powered submarines, Japan urged the United States in September to review its needs.

The government action was prompted by left-wing opposition which manifested itself most violently this year in student rioting in January over the visit of the nuclear-powered aircraft carrier Enterprise to the U.S. Naval base at Sasebo, in southern Japan. The students said the ship threatened Japan with radioactive contamination.

The January riots—part of a drive to scrap the U.S.-Japan Security Treaty which comes up for review in 1970—injured scores of demonstrators and police.

Hospital In Africa Tests Thalidomide

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP)—The controversial drug thalidomide is being tested at Karl Bremer Hospital here as an immuno - suppresive serum in baboon kidney transplants and skin grafts on rabbits. Immunosuppressive drugs are designed to prevent the body's natural rejection of transplanted organs.

Thalidomide is banned in South Africa but can be imported for research, a spokesman said. He said it "compared satisfyingly" with other immuno - suppressive drugs tested.

U.S.-Japan Set Changes At 50 Bases

TOKYO (AP) — Attempting to dampen opposition in Japan, the United States offered today to give up, move or share a third of its bases in Japan.

The offer was accepted, and the two governments said they would begin discussions on the change in status of about 50 of the 148 bases and installations the United States maintains under the U.S.-Japan Security Treaty. The bases were not named.

The agreement was reached at a three-hour session of the security treaty joint consultative committee attended by Foreign Minister Kiichi Aichi; Kuichi Arita, director-general of the Japanese defense agency; U.S. Ambassador U. Alexis Johnson and Adm. John S. McCain Jr., commander of U.S. Naval Forces in the Pacific.

Johnson told a news conference the proposal covers almost half of the total land occupied by U.S. bases and installations in Japan.

After a series of accidents involving U.S. military aircraft and visits to Japanese ports by U.S. nuclear-powered submarines, Japan urged the United States in September to review its needs.

The government action was prompted by left-wing opposition which manifested itself most violently this year in student rioting in January over the visit of the nuclear-powered aircraft carrier Enterprise to the U.S. Naval base at Sasebo, in southern Japan. The students said the ship threatened Japan with radioactive contamination.

The January riots—part of a drive to scrap the U.S.-Japan Security Treaty which comes up for review in 1970—injured scores of demonstrators and police.

Hospital In Africa Tests Thalidomide

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP)—The controversial drug thalidomide is being tested at Karl Bremer Hospital here as an immuno - suppresive serum in baboon kidney transplants and skin grafts on rabbits. Immunosuppressive drugs are designed to prevent the body's natural rejection of transplanted organs.

Thalidomide is banned in South Africa but can be imported for research, a spokesman said. He said it "compared satisfyingly" with other immuno - suppressive drugs tested.

Christian's 27 Lead Potters Past Cambridge 60-48

Sports Whirled

By TURK PIERCE
Review Sports Editor

Friday night's loss to Aliquippa was a heartbreaking one for East Liverpool, but it was a vindication of Clint McConnell's control style of basketball.

Aliquippa has the best personnel of any team the Potters will face all season. Dwight Kenner, John Thomas and Jesse Stewart are three outstanding ballplayers. Aliquippa was taller, faster and probably a better shooting team than East Liverpool, yet the Potters almost won, and would have won if they had refrained from shooting at the end. And even the two shots missed by Rick Steffen near the end were high-percentage shots, layups, but they just didn't fall.

DAN CUNNINGHAM and John Johnson, not known for deadly outside shooting, refrained from taking shots from the outside when they were open. Steffen and Montgomery took the outside shots, and Steffen made his first four. Montgomery had a poor night, for him, making only 3 of 9.

Jerry Christian showed he has matured as a pivotman, making the same good moves against two players taller than himself that he had been making against shorter centers. Christion again demonstrated his improvement Saturday night at Cambridge. At Aliquippa he was getting fouled continually, but the officials ignored it for the most part.

Aliquippa coach Frank Janosik was fuming at the Potter stall tactics. "A game like this is the best reason for putting in a 30-second (to shoot) rule in high-school basketball", he said. He couldn't be more wrong. A game like Friday's, where a team with inferior personnel but superior coaching almost won, is the best reason for never having a shooting time-limit in basketball. Al Bailey, the East Liverpool native who coaches the Duquesne freshman, agreed. Bailey was at Aliquippa sizing up possible recruits (Kenner is high on his list). Red Manning complained when Buzz Ridl of Pitt stalled against us in the Steel Bowl," Bailey related, "but I told him that was all Ridl could do, and it almost paid off."

McConnell got through the no-getting-off-bench rule that prevails in Pennsylvania by having a manager stand behind him and forcibly hold him down. Janosik was called for a technical for leaving the bench.

ALIQUIPPA has the relatives of some interesting people performing. Starter George Suder is the nephew of former major-leaguer Pete Suder, George Durham, who scored a basket in the overtime, is a cousin of Jarrett Durham, star sophomore at Duquesne, and Mike Maravich, who netted eight points in the reserve contest, is a first cousin of LSU All-America Pete Maravich. Pete, of course, was born and raised in Aliquippa, but went to high school in North Carolina when his father coached at North Carolina State.

It was a bad weekend for Ohio teams invading Pennsylvania. Not only were the Potters toppled, but Beaver Local was upset by Western Beaver, Springfield Local was surprised by Mohawk, Warren Harding was dumped by Sharon and Massillon was whipped by Farrell.

Frank Melchiorre, Potter assistant last season who is now the head coach at St. Clairsville, was on hand Saturday night at Cambridge, The Bobcats are a future St. Clairsville foe.

Defense Enables Winners To Rally

By TURK PIERCE
Review Sports Editor

A tough Potter defense held Cambridge scoreless for about seven minutes in the second half as East Liverpool rallied to win its first road game of the season on the Bobcats' floor Saturday night.

Cambridge led 36-31 with about five minutes left in the third period, but didn't score again until 5:40 remained in the game. East Liverpool rolled up 13 points during that time and never lost the lead after that, although there were some tense moments and the game was much closer than the final score 60-48 would indicate.

The Potters stayed in the game the first half through the tremendous efforts of Jerry Christian, who had 23 of his game-high 27 points before intermission. Christian was the only Potter to score until 4:37 remained in the half, and there were only four other Potter points scored in the half, a pair of fouls by Bill Montgomery at the 4:37 mark and a long shot by Rick Steffen with one second showing on the clock. Montgomery ended the game with 13 points and Steffen 12.

Christian also had a game high of 14 rebounds, although the Potters trailed in this department 37-34. Mark Loper had 11 grabs for the losers. Ken Davis netted 12 points and Tom Weisenstine and Tony Lenhart 10 each for the Bobcats.

In the first half Cambridge was hot, hitting 52 per cent. Aside from Christian, the Potters were ice cold, hitting 35 per cent. Montgomery went 0 for 7. East Liverpool led only at 10-9 and trailed by as much as 26-18.

Chuck Gaskill, a 6-6 beanpole, and his replacement, 6-4 Chuck Cowgill, couldn't contain Christian inside, as the big Potter center showed some excellent moves in tallying his 23 first half points. But at the other end of the floor Cambridge was getting free for jump shots and tailled several baskets on offensive follow-ups.

In the second half, the Potter defense tightened up. "We didn't make any adjustment, the kids just hustled more," said winning coach Clint McConnell. Both teams ended up shooting 42 per cent for the game.

Montgomery found the range in the third period, hitting three long bombs to get the Potters close. A basket by Steffen with 4:10 left in the third period put the Potters ahead.

East Liverpool had a 47-39 spread with four minutes to go in the game, but four quick points by Lenhart made things tense. It was 48-44 with 2:30 to go and Cambridge had the ball. Visions of a loss similar to the previous night at Aliquippa went through the minds of Potter fans, but this time East Liverpool did not succumb to the pressure. The Potters committed only 8 turnovers in the contest, to 15 for the home club, and hit an amazing 18 of 20 from the foul line, including the last 16 in a row.

John Johnson made two clutch fouls with 2:11 showing, and Christian converted a pair with 1:51 left. Montgomery stole the ball on the ensuing throw-in for a basket to sew up the game. The Potters stretched the streak to 10 straight to win going away.

Cambridge went cold from the foul line, hitting only 4 of 15 in the second half. Weisenstine missed two crucial shots on a questionable double technical foul called against the Potters.

The winners are now 4-1 and host Pittsburgh Fifth Avenue Saturday night. Cambridge is 4-2.

Bears Take 2-Overtime Thriller

Ed Casey, Gisbon Star As Leetonia Wins Second

LEETONIA — Two foul shots with eight seconds to go by Ed Casey gave Leetonia a thrilling double - overtime 68-67 win over Jackson-Milton here Saturday night.

Gibson led all scorers with 31 points and Casey added 22. Bill Patton had 23 for the losers, Marty Marino 17 and Ed Milo 10.

Casey had sent the game into overtime when he tied the score at 56 with a basket with 40 seconds to go in regulation play.

Casey opened the first overtime with a basket, but Bill Cartmell knotted the score. Bill Sobotka hit his only basket to put Leetonia on top again, but Terry Malmseldt hit his only basket to tie the score with 29 seconds left. Ken DiCross missed a final shot that would have given the Bears the win in the first overtime.

In the second overtime Gary Welsh opened the scoring with two fouls. Marino made a three-point play to put the visitors ahead by one. Gibson got Leetonia back in front with a basket, but field goals by Patton and Leroy Johns gave Jackson-Milton an apparently safe lead. But the losers kept turning the ball over and Leetonia pulled the game out. Leetonia is now 2-3, Jackson-Milton 1-3.

The losers had a 37 per cent to 34 per cent shooting edge, but Leetonia had a 51-26 rebounding edge and got 13 more shots. Casey pulled down 26 rebounds and Marino grabbed 15.

Leetonia also took the reserve game, 42-41.

Colts, Browns In NFL Final

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

The praise-makers will spend the rest of the week figuring ways to tear down the high-flying Colts and Raiders in next Sunday's Super Bowl semifinals.

It won't be easy.

Collier's Cleveland Browns bushwacked the Dallas Cowboys 31-20 Saturday for the National Football League's Eastern Conference title, then watched the Colts wreck Minnesota 24-14 Sunday for the Western crown.

"They were tremendous," Collier said of the streaking Colts, who play the Brown in Cleveland Sunday for the NFL championship.

Ewbank's New York Jets, Eastern Division kings in the American Foobll League, were keenly interested observers as the Raiders demolished the Kansas City Chiefs 41-6 Sunday in a playoff for the Western title.

The Raiders, defending AFL champs, meet the Jets at New York Sunday for the league pennant, with the winner taking on the NFL titlist in the Jan. 12 Super Bowl at Miami.

"Oakland's a great football team . . . they showed that today . . . and this victory will make them all the more confident," Ewbank said following the one-sided Western showdown, in which Raider quarterback Daryle Lamonica riddled the favored Chiefs with five touchdown strikes.

"A great football team," Grant said of the Colts, who shut out Minnesota until the last quarter and rolled to their ninth consecutive victory, ruining the Vikings' first post-season fling. "I don't think we could have played better against them."

Kapp, who passed for 287 yards and ran for 52 more despite constant harassment from the bruising Baltimore defensive unit, called the Colts "definitely the finest football team I've ever seen."

Stram, whose club field to score a touchdown for the first time in five years, said the Raiders "just beat us. They're just great. Lamonica's a great quarterback."

Lamonica broke the game open early, firing scoring passes covering 24 yards to Fred Biletnikoff, 23 to Warren Wells and 44 to Biletnikoff for a 21-0 first period bulge. He hit Biletnikoff again with a 54-yard payoff pitch before halftime and connected with Wells in the fourth period on a 45-yard scoring play.

"If it wasn't our best defensive effort, it certainly was one of them," said Oakland Coach John Rauch, whose team also has won nine in a row.

Earl Morrall tossed two touchdown passes and linebacker Mike Curtis scored on a 60-yard jaunt with a fumble recovery as the Colts scampered to a 21-0 lead, then eased to their 15th victory in 16 games.

Collier praised the Browns for "the greatest defensive effort for a team that has played for me."

OSU, Trojans Practice In Secret

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Secrecy will mark the practice sessions this week of the Ohio State and Southern California football teams.

Both squads went through closed-door workouts last week and that's just how this week's are planned.

The Buckeyes came to town last Friday and had two workouts at East Los Angeles College. It was cold, with temperatures in the 40s, but none of the OSU players came down with the Hong Kong flu.

Ohio State Leads Nation In Attendance

NEW YORK (AP) — Not only are Ohio State and Southern California 1-2 in the college football rankings, they also led the nation in attendance, according to figures released today by the National Collegiate Sports Services.

Ohio State averaged 80,427 spectators for each of its six home games— a rise of 3,727 over 1967—in winning its 11th consecutive national attendance crown and 17th in the last 18 years.

It was the highest finish ever for Southern California, which averaged 70,939. an increase of more than 8,000 a game over 1967.

A record 10 teams averaged more than 60,000 per game. Ohio State, Southern California, Michigan State, Michigan, Louisana State, Nebraska, Texas, Purdue and Notre Dame were repeaters while Tennessee joined the group, rising from 17th to eighth, ahead of Purdue and Notre Dame.

All of the top 10 teams except Michigan, No. 4, showed increases. The Wolverines dropped 6,557 per game to 67,991, despite the season's largest crowd, 102,875 for the Michigan State game.

Michigan State ranked third with a per-game average of 69,030, followed by Michigan; Louisiana State, 66,129; Nebraska, 65,967; Texas, 63,333; Tennessee, 62,258; Purdue, 61,124, and Notre Dame, 61,075.

The biggest increase was Pennsylvania's, up 12,300 per game. Next came Memphis State's Missouri Valley champions, up 11,642, and California, up 11,403. California made the longest jump, from 45th place to 26th.

Christian's 27 Lead Potters Past Cambridge 60-48

Sports Whirled

By TURK PIERCE
Review Sports Editor

Friday night's loss to Aliquippa was a heartbreaking one for East Liverpool, but it was a vindication of Clint McConnell's control style of basketball.

Aliquippa has the best personnel of any team the Potters will face all season. Dwight Kenner, John Thomas and Jesse Stewart are three outstanding ballplayers. Aliquippa was taller, faster and probably a better shooting team than East Liverpool, yet the Potters almost won, and would have won if they had refrained from shooting at the end. And even the two shots missed by Rick Steffen near the end were high-percentage shots, layups, but they just didn't fall.

DAN CUNNINGHAM and John Johnson, not known for deadly outside shooting, refrained from taking shots from the outside when they were open. Steffen and Montgomery took the outside shots, and Steffen made his first four. Montgomery had a poor night, for him, making only 3 of 9.

Jerry Christian showed he has matured as a pivotman, making the same good moves against two players taller than himself that he had been making against shorter centers. Christion again demonstrated his improvement Saturday night at Cambridge. At Aliquippa he was getting fouled continually, but the officials ignored it for the most part.

Aliquippa coach Frank Janosik was fuming at the Potter stall tactics. "A game like this is the best reason for putting in a 30-second (to shoot) rule in high-school basketball", he said. He couldn't be more wrong. A game like Friday's, where a team with inferior personnel but superior coaching almost won, is the best reason for never having a shooting time-limit in basketball. Al Bailey, the East Liverpool native who coaches the Duquesne freshman, agreed. Bailey was at Aliquippa sizing up possible recruits (Kenner is high on his list). Red Manning complained when Buzz Ridl of Pitt stalled against us in the Steel Bowl," Bailey related, "but I told him that was all Ridl could do, and it almost paid off."

McConnell got through the no-getting-off-bench rule that prevails in Pennsylvania by having a manager stand behind him and forcibly hold him down. Janosik was called for a technical for leaving the bench.

ALIQUIPPA has the relatives of some interesting people performing. Starter George Suder is the nephew of former major-leaguer Pete Suder, George Durham, who scored a basket in the overtime, is a cousin of Jarrett Durham, star sophomore at Duquesne, and Mike Maravich, who netted eight points in the reserve contest, is a first cousin of LSU All-America Pete Maravich. Pete, of course, was born and raised in Aliquippa, but went to high school in North Carolina when his father coached at North Carolina State.

It was a bad weekend for Ohio teams invading Pennsylvania. Not only were the Potters toppled, but Beaver Local was upset by Western Beaver, Springfield Local was surprised by Mohawk, Warren Harding was dumped by Sharon and Massillon was whipped by Farrell.

Frank Melchiorre, Potter assistant last season who is now the head coach at St. Clairsville, was on hand Saturday night at Cambridge, The Bobcats are a future St. Clairsville foe.

Defense Enables Winners To Rally

By TURK PIERCE
Review Sports Editor

A tough Potter defense held Cambridge scoreless for about seven minutes in the second half as East Liverpool rallied to win its first road game of the season on the Bobcats' floor Saturday night.

Cambridge led 36-31 with about five minutes left in the third period, but didn't score again until 5:40 remained in the game. East Liverpool rolled up 13 points during that time and never lost the lead after that, although there were some tense moments and the game was much closer than the final score 60-48 would indicate.

The Potters stayed in the game the first half through the tremendous efforts of Jerry Christian, who had 23 of his game-high 27 points before intermission. Christian was the only Potter to score until 4:37 remained in the half, and there were only four other Potter points scored in the half, a pair of fouls by Bill Montgomery at the 4:37 mark and a long shot by Rick Steffen with one second showing on the clock. Montgomery ended the game with 13 points and Steffen 12.

Christian also had a game high of 14 rebounds, although the Potters trailed in this department 37-34. Mark Loper had 11 grabs for the losers. Ken Davis netted 12 points and Tom Weisenstine and Tony Lenhart 10 each for the Bobcats.

In the first half Cambridge was hot, hitting 52 per cent. Aside from Christian, the Potters were ice cold, hitting 35 per cent. Montgomery went 0 for 7. East Liverpool led only at 10-9 and trailed by as much as 26-18.

Chuck Gaskill, a 6-6 beanpole, and his replacement, 6-4 Chuck Cowgill, couldn't contain Christian inside, as the big Potter center showed some excellent moves in tallying his 23 first half points. But at the other end of the floor Cambridge was getting free for jump shots and tailled several baskets on offensive follow-ups.

In the second half, the Potter defense tightened up. "We didn't make any adjustment, the kids just hustled more," said winning coach Clint McConnell. Both teams ended up shooting 42 per cent for the game.

Montgomery found the range in the third period, hitting three long bombs to get the Potters close. A basket by Steffen with 4:10 left in the third period put the Potters ahead.

East Liverpool had a 47-39 spread with four minutes to go in the game, but four quick points by Lenhart made things tense. It was 48-44 with 2:30 to go and Cambridge had the ball. Visions of a loss similar to the previous night at Aliquippa went through the minds of Potter fans, but this time East Liverpool did not succumb to the pressure. The Potters committed only 8 turnovers in the contest, to 15 for the home club, and hit an amazing 18 of 20 from the foul line, including the last 16 in a row.

John Johnson made two clutch fouls with 2:11 showing, and Christian converted a pair with 1:51 left. Montgomery stole the ball on the ensuing throw-in for a basket to sew up the game. The Potters stretched the streak to 10 straight to win going away.

Cambridge went cold from the foul line, hitting only 4 of 15 in the second half. Weisenstine missed two crucial shots on a questionable double technical foul called against the Potters.

The winners are now 4-1 and host Pittsburgh Fifth Avenue Saturday night. Cambridge is 4-2.

LEETONIA — Two foul shots with eight seconds to go by Ed Casey gave Leetonia a thrilling double - overtime 68-67 win over Jackson-Milton here Saturday night.

Gibson led all scorers with 31 points and Casey added 22. Bill Patton had 23 for the losers, Marty Marino 17 and Ed Milo 10.

Casey had sent the game into overtime when he tied the score at 56 with a basket with 40 seconds to go in regulation play.

Casey opened the first overtime with a basket, but Bill Cartmell knotted the score. Bill Sobotka hit his only basket to put Leetonia on top again, but Terry Malmseldt hit his only basket to tie the score with 29 seconds left. Ken DiCross missed a final shot that would have given the Bears the win in the first overtime.

In the second overtime Gary Welsh opened the scoring with two fouls. Marino made a three-point play to put the visitors ahead by one. Gibson got Leetonia back in front with a basket, but field goals by Patton and Leroy Johns gave Jackson-Milton an apparently safe lead. But the losers kept turning the ball over and Leetonia pulled the game out. Leetonia is now 2-3, Jackson-Milton 1-3.

The losers had a 37 per cent to 34 per cent shooting edge, but Leetonia had a 51-26 rebounding edge and got 13 more shots. Casey pulled down 26 rebounds and Marino grabbed 15.

Leetonia also took the reserve game, 42-41.

Cambridge Reserves Top E. Liverpool

The East Liverpool reserve basketball team dropped its third game in five starts Saturday night, falling 51-40 at Cambridge.

After a see-saw first period, Cambridge took a 24-16 lead late in the second stanza, but the Potters came back with six in a row and closed to 25-24 early in the third period. But the home team went on a 13-1 spree the rest of the period to clinch the game, maintaining at least a seven point margin the rest of the way.

Jim (El) Parson led the losers with 19 points. Tom Hollins had 12 and Jim Ball and Mike Jefferson 10 each for the winners. Cambridge had a 56-40 rebounding edge, with Hollins getting 12 and Ball 10. Bob Moore had 12 for the losers.

East Liverpool played a good floor game, committing only 7 turnovers to 20 by the winners. Cambridge hit 39 per cent to 26 per cent by the losers. The Potters were particularly cold in the third period, hitting only 2 of 14. Cambridge now has a 4-1 reserve record.

Colts, Browns In NFL Final

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

The praise-makers will spend the rest of the week figuring ways to tear down the high-flying Colts and Raiders in next Sunday's Super Bowl semifinals.

It won't be easy.

Collier's Cleveland Browns bushwacked the Dallas Cowboys 31-20 Saturday for the National Football League's Eastern Conference title, then watched the Colts wreck Minnesota 24-14 Sunday for the Western crown.

"They were tremendous," Collier said of the streaking Colts, who play the Brown in Cleveland Sunday for the NFL championship.

Ewbank's New York Jets, Eastern Division kings in the American Foobll League, were keenly interested observers as the Raiders demolished the Kansas City Chiefs 41-6 Sunday in a playoff for the Western title.

The Raiders, defending AFL champs, meet the Jets at New York Sunday for the league pennant, with the winner taking on the NFL titlist in the Jan. 12 Super Bowl at Miami.

"Oakland's a great football team . . . they showed that today . . . and this victory will make them all the more confident," Ewbank said following the one-sided Western showdown, in which Raider quarterback Daryle Lamonica riddled the favored Chiefs with five touchdown strikes.

"A great football team," Grant said of the Colts, who shut out Minnesota until the last quarter and rolled to their ninth consecutive victory, ruining the Vikings' first post-season fling. "I don't think we could have played better against them."

Kapp, who passed for 287 yards and ran for 52 more despite constant harassment from the bruising Baltimore defensive unit, called the Colts "definitely the finest football team I've ever seen."

Stram, whose club field to score a touchdown for the first time in five years, said the Raiders "just beat us. They're just great. Lamonica's a great quarterback."

Lamonica broke the game open early, firing scoring passes covering 24 yards to Fred Biletnikoff, 23 to Warren Wells and 44 to Biletnikoff for a 21-0 first period bulge. He hit Biletnikoff again with a 54-yard payoff pitch before halftime and connected with Wells in the fourth period on a 45-yard scoring play.

The Oakland defenders picked off four Len Dawson passes, held Mike Garrett to a net of five rushing yards and limited the Chiefs to a pair of field goals by Jan Stenerud.

"If it wasn't our best defensive effort, it certainly was one of them," said Oakland Coach John Rauch, whose team also has won nine in a row.

Earl Morrall tossed two touchdown passes and linebacker Mike Curtis scored on a 60-yard jaunt with a fumble recovery as the Colts scampered to a 21-0 lead, then eased to their 15th victory in 16 games.

The Browns converted four pass interceptions with 24 points on the way to their upset victory over Dallas. Linebacker Dale Lindsay picked off a Don Meredith pass and rambled 27 yards for the key touchdown. Leroy Kelly scored twice for Cleveland on a 45-yard pass from Bill Nelsen and a 35-yard run.

Illinois Wins At Houston, Ends 60-Game Streak

UCLA might be the best college basketball team in the rest of the country, but in Houston, unranked Illinois is tops.

The unheralded Fighting Illini all but put some ranking into their Christmas stocking by doing what no team, including UCLA, has been able to do in more than two years—beat Houston at Houston.

The Illini raised their record to 7-0 with a 97-84 victory that ended Houston's 60-game home winning streak and put Illinois in a good spot to at least replace the Cougars as the nation's 20th-ranked team.

Not even UCLA, the NCAA champion the last two years, can equal that performance. The Bruins crushed West Virginia 95-56 for their 68th victory in 69 games, but the only defeat was to Houston last season in the Astrodome.

UCLA's victory represented a final tuneup for this weekend's Holiday Festival in New York and for All-American Lew Alcindor and his pulled tendon in his left arch. Both passed easily as the Bruins jumped to a 47-34 halftime lead and breezed and Alcindor scored 19 points and blocked numerous shots while playing without a limp.

The Uclans meet Providence in the first round Friday night of the tournament that also includes second-ranked North Carolina and eighth-rated Villanova.

Villanova also had an easy tuneup, belting Catholic U. 77-47. North Carolina was idle.

Davidson, No. 3, also was idle before heading into the Charlotte Invitational this weekend as the heavy favorite against Texas, Maryland and Wichita State. Cincinnati, No. 6, and Santa Clara, No. 10, rested, too.

The rest of the Top Ten played true to form, led by Fourth-ranked Kentucky, which beat undefeated Army 80-65 to win its own tournament, and New Mexico, No. 5, which captured its Lobo Tournament by dropping Temple 83-70.

Illinois should have plenty of room to move up as Houston, Purdue, No. 12, California, No. 15, and Western Kentucky, No. 18, all lost last week.

The Illini, with all five starters back from an 11-13 season last year, jumped to a 50-39 halftime lead and the Cougars never got closer than five again. Dave Scholz and sophomore Greg Jackson each scored 21 points for Illinois.

Cincinnati has a date against North Texas State Saturday and Santa Clara heads for the Rainbow Classic Thursday in Hawaii as the favorite. Kentucky and Notre Dame collide Saturday and New Mexico takes on Texas of El Paso tonight.

St. Bonaventure travels to the All-College Classic at Oklahoma City Thursday. Almost every other major college also is scheduled for a tournament this week.

Purdue was the only Saturday casualty in the second 10, losing to Arizona State 85-80 in the Sun Devil Classic final.

Ashland Tops Grovers; Dayton, Kent State Win

By The Associated Press

A substitute and a man returned from injuries sparked Dayton and Kent State to basketball victories Saturday night while third - ranked Ashland maintained its hold as the nation's best small college defensive squad.

George Janky filled in for injured Dayton center Dan Obrovac and dumped in 27 points as the Flyers rolled over Providence 90-63. The 6-foot-8 Chicagoan scored 19 points in the first half for the once-beaten Flyers.

Tom Lagodich returned to the Kent State lineup after missing two games and racked up 21 points in leading the Golden Flahes to an easy 69 - 48 win over Pittsburgh. Lagodich also had eight rebounds.

Ashland allowed only 36 points in winning the championship of the Marion Invitational Basketball Tournament. Kevin Wilson shot for 15 points while Wayne Sololowski had 13 and Jim Williams 10 as the Eagles downed Grove City of Pennsylvania 48-36.

Ohio State set a school record in sinking 38 free throws on its way to a 84-69 win over Washington State. Junior center Dave Sorenson led the Buckeyes with 24 points. Jim Cleamons had 17 and Steve Howell 13.

John McElroy pumped in 46 points as Youngstown State clobbered Hiram 86-58. McElroy hit on 22 of 35 shots from the field and added two free throws as the Penguins, the nation's tenth ranked small college team, won their fifth straight game of the season.

Steve Mix dumped in 19 points and grabbed 12 rebounds as Toledo roared past Loyola of Los Angeles 91-57. Helping Mix in scoring for the Rockets were Bob Miller with 17 and John Rudley and John Brisker with 15 each.

Local Kent Cagers Fall Despite 36 Points By Piatt

Jim Reese scored 18 and Nick Lukacena 12 for Merrill Hall's team, which jumped off to a 24-6 lead but fell behind 35-34 at halftime and couldn't catch up.

With 15 minutes to play Bill Fisher was ejected from the game and with 10 minutes to go Mark Powell fouled out. Powell had 20 rebounds and Fisher 15. East Liverpool trailed 79-70, but scored seven in a row to get back into the game with about three minutes to go, but couldn't pull even.

East Liverpool hit 41 per cent, Ashtabula 42 per cent.

Senator Hart Rumored For Commissioner Post

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — The search for a baseball commissioner acceptable to both the American and National Leagues began today and rumor's first production was Sen. Phillip Hart of Michigan.

The name of Hart, a friend of baseball, popped out of Washington, D.C., for the $100,000-a-year job which was left up in the air by club owners dedicated to create a new image for the game.

After 19 ballots and 14 hours, the baseball brass failed to agree and wearily ended with a stalemate at 6:15 a.m., EST, Saturday.

The balloting to select a successor for the dismissed Gen. William Eckert was diffused by at least six candidates and all but one of them now appear to be out of the picture altogether. Possibly, the lone remaining hopeful in the group is career baseball man Lee MacPhail, Eckert's first assstant who resigned to become vice president of the New York Yankees.

It was a tug-o-war between the traditionalist, Chub Feeney, and the so-called Young Turk ringleader, suave Mike Burke, through 10 ballots.

Feeney, vice president of the San Francisco Giants and a nephew of the club's owner, Horace Stoneham, had the required minimum of nine NL votes but couldn't swing it through the AL. Burke, president of the Yankees, couldn't putt it through the NL.

With this checkmate, presumably both contenders now are out of the race. Also gone from the list, if the balloting is a criterion, are Joe Cronin, AL president and Circut Judge Robert Cannon of Milwaukee, former player counsel.

In the late balloting, John McHale became a compromise choice of the AL which gave him nine votes. McHale, former Eckert executive and general manager of the Detroit Tigers and Mlwaukee-Atlanta Braves, decided to stay as head man of the new Montreal Expos.

He withdrew from the commissioner race without even giving his NL colleagues a chance to vote on him.

Finally, it got down to MacPhail. It looked as if he were on the move in the 18th ballot, getting nine AL votes and four from the NL. But on the 19th ballot, three of his four NL backers passed.

"The owners just thought that by this time they were too tired and thought-weary, and this just wasn't the way to select a commissioner," said spokesman Frank Dale, Cincinnati Reds president. "That's when we adjourned. They stuck it out as long as they could. They really wanted to get the job done.

"Now, I expect, it will be 30 or 40 days before we meet again."

Plays 48 Minutes

Chamberlain Stands Out As Lakers Down 76ers

The outspoken center for Los Angeles, whose opinions over his amount of playing time and other matters has made headlines, played all 48 minutes Sunday night and sparkled in the Lakers' 102-99 victory over Philadelphia.

Dominating play, Chamberlain scored 17 points, grabbed 22 rebounds and blocked four shots as the Lakers took a 75-63 lead in the third period and then held off the 76ers.

On Saturday night, Baltimore tripped Phoenix 131-117, San Francisco clobbered Philadelphia 109-94, Boston defeated Chicago 102-94, New York mauled Seattle 131-105, San Diego whipped Cincinnati 132-124 and Atlanta tumbled Detroit 120-110.

In the American Basketball Association Sunday, Dallas defeated Houston 111-105, Indiana trounced New York 125-110 and Denver blitzed New Orleans 122-96. Kentucky at Minnesota was postponed by a storm.

A 19-8 spurt in seven minutes of the third quarter sent Los Angeles on top after a 55-53 halftime deficit. Three times Philadelphia closed within two points, but never caught up as the second-place 76ers fell 2½ games behnd Baltimore in the Eastern Division. The Lakers lead the West by five games.

Australia May Use Teen-Ager In Davis

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

ADELAIDE, Australia (AP) — Donald Dell, U.S. Davis Cup captain, said today he believes his rival Harry Hopman is using 17-year-old John Alexander as a smoke screen in tennis preparations for this week's Challenge Round.

"If I had a million dollars I would bet Hop doesn't use Alexander in the singles," Dell said. "I am convinced the Australians will go with their two experienced players, Ray Ruffels and Bill Bowrey.

"What they will do in the doubles I don't know. I suspect this will depend on how the first two singles come out."

The wily, 52-year-old Hopman, who is captaining the Australian team for the 21st time, has been high on Alexander, baby of the Aussie team, hinting that the hard serving teen-ager is likely to play one of the two single positions with Ruffels almost a cinch for the other.

"Alexander is continuing to show excellent form and improving each day", Hopman said after a Monday workout. "Bowrey, on the other hand, is not playing at his best."

Matches between the challenging Americans and Cup-holding Australians begin with the opennig singles on the lightning-fast Memorial Drive Courts Thursday starting at 13:15 local time (10:45 p.m., Wed. EST).

The draw will be made Christmas day at 15:30 local time (1 a.m. EST).

The question is whether Alexander, who would be the youngest player in the 68-year history of the Cup to play a Challenge Round, has the court poise and all-round game to match America's two top aces, Arthur Ashe Jr. and Clark Graebner, both Davis Cup veterans.

Duffy Retains Lead In Cage Yogi Chase

Bob Duffy maintained a two-game lead in the Review Cage Yogi race by posting an 8-2 mark over the weekend, the same as his closest pursuer, Turk Pierce.

Rose Nuzzo went 7-3, while Bob Shaffer, Lorin Howard, Chuck Campbell and Pete Weaver all went 6-4. The consensus was 8-2.

Duffy was the only Yogi to pick Western Beaver's 59-47 win over Beaver Local. All the seers missed on Oak Glen's 67-60 win over Morgantown. Nuzzo missed on Leetonia's 68-67 double overtime win over Jackson-Milton. Duffy and Weaver fell on Leetonia's 71-62 loss to Poland.

Weaver also missed East Liverpool's 60-48 win over Cambridge. The trio of Shaffer, Campbell and Howard fell with East Liverpool in its 49-43 overtime loss to Aliquippa and East Palestine in its 61-52 loss to Lisbon.

Bruins Beat Canadiens, Grab First In NHL East

Santa Claus visited Boston early and dropped a delightful present under the Bruins' tree —first place in the National Hockey League's East Division.

Faced with consecutive weekend games against first place Montreal, the Bruins responded by tying the Canadiens Saturday night 0-0 and then wiping out a three-goal deficit for a 7-5 victory Sunday that moved them into the top spot.

For the record, it has been 28 years since Boston finished first and although it's a long way until the end of the season, the Bruins could be tough to move out of the No. 1 slot.

In Sunday's other NHL games, New York ended an eight-game winless streak with a 4-2 victory over Minnesota, Detroit beat Toronto 3-2 on a pair of disputed goals, Chicago downed Pittsburgh 3-1 and Oakland nipped Philadelphia 2-1.

Saturday night, Montreal and Boston battled to their scoreless tie, Toronto battered Detroit 8-3, New York and St. Louis played to a 2-2 tie, Philadelphia shaded Los Angeles 2-1 and Minnesota dropped Pittsburgh 3-1.

Derek Sanderson scored a pair of goals—the first one just nine seconds after the opening faceoff—keying a four-goal Boston explosion. Phil Esposito also scored twice for the Bruins, giving him four goals in three games against his kid brother, Tony.

Chicago gave the brother business to Pittsburgh with Bobby Hull and Dennis Hull scoring the third period goals that gave the Black Hawks their fourth straight victory.

Gene Urbrico got the Penguins off in front but Stan Mikita pulled the Black Hawks even and then Bobby Hull's 22nd of the season and Dennis' No. 16 put the Hawks in charge.

The Rangers snapped an eight-game winless string despite a 45-save performance by Cesare Maniago, Minnesota's goalie. Reg Fleming's power play goal—the Rngers' first tally with a manpower edge in 23 attempts over two weeks—broke a 2-2 tie in the third period.

Wayne Connelly and Claude Larose had scored goals 61 seconds apart against Gillas Villemure, giving the North Stars a quick edge. But goals by Jim Neilson and Don Marshall put the Rangers in business and then Fleming's goal put them in front to stay. Villemure was filling in for Ed Giacomin, out with a bruised left shoulder.

Pete Stemkowski and Pete Mahovlich scored the disputed Detroit goals that gave the Red Wings their victory over Toronto and ended an eight-game unbeaten string for the Maple Leafs. Pete's brother, Frank, an ex-Leaf like Semkowski, scored the other Detroit goal.

Stemkowski scored the eventual winning goal when he beat goalie Bruce Gamble after defenseman Kent Douglas had battered the puck over his head from Detroit's end. The Leafs argued that Douglas had lifted his stick over his shoulder and that the play should have been whistled dead.

Earlier Mahovlich scored on a play which Toronto argued was off-side. Mild-mannered Dave Keon argued so vehemently that he drew a 10-minute misconduct penalty. Only once in his nine NHL seasons has Keon drawn as many as 10 minutes in penalties

Billy Hicke's goal midway in the third period enabled Oakland to edge Philadelphia and move into a tie for second with idle Los Angeles in the West. The Seals never have lost to the Flyers since they became expansion clubs last season.

Illinois Wins At Houston, Ends 60-Game Streak

UCLA might be the best college basketball team in the rest of the country, but in Houston, unranked Illinois is tops.

The unheralded Fighting Illini all but put some ranking into their Christmas stocking by doing what no team, including UCLA, has been able to do in more than two years—beat Houston at Houston.

The Illini raised their record to 7-0 with a 97-84 victory that ended Houston's 60-game home winning streak and put Illinois in a good spot to at least replace the Cougars as the nation's 20th-ranked team.

Not even UCLA, the NCAA champion the last two years, can equal that performance. The Bruins crushed West Virginia 95-56 for their 68th victory in 69 games, but the only defeat was to Houston last season in the Astrodome.

UCLA's victory represented a final tuneup for this weekend's Holiday Festival in New York and for All-American Lew Alcindor and his pulled tendon in his left arch. Both passed easily as the Bruins jumped to a 47-34 halftime lead and breezed and Alcindor scored 19 points and blocked numerous shots while playing without a limp.

The Uclans meet Providence in the first round Friday night of the tournament that also includes second-ranked North Carolina and eighth-rated Villanova.

Villanova also had an easy tuneup, belting Catholic U. 77-47. North Carolina was idle.

Davidson, No. 3, also was idle before heading into the Charlotte Invitational this weekend as the heavy favorite against Texas, Maryland and Wichita State. Cincinnati, No. 6, and Santa Clara, No. 10, rested, too.

The rest of the Top Ten played true to form, led by Fourth-ranked Kentucky, which beat undefeated Army 80-65 to win its own tournament, and New Mexico, No. 5, which captured its Lobo Tournament by dropping Temple 83-70.

Illinois should have plenty of room to move up as Houston, Purdue, No. 12, California, No. 15, and Western Kentucky, No. 18, all lost last week.

The Illini, with all five starters back from an 11-13 season last year, jumped to a 50-39 halftime lead and the Cougars never got closer than five again. Dave Scholz and sophomore Greg Jackson each scored 21 points for Illinois.

Cincinnati has a date against North Texas State Saturday and Santa Clara heads for the Rainbow Classic Thursday in Hawaii as the favorite. Kentucky and Notre Dame collide Saturday and New Mexico takes on Texas of El Paso tonight.

St. Bonaventure travels to the All-College Classic at Oklahoma City Thursday. Almost every other major college also is scheduled for a tournament this week.

Purdue was the only Saturday casualty in the second 10, losing to Arizona State 85-80 in the Sun Devil Classic final.

Ashland Tops Grovers; Dayton, Kent State Win

By The Associated Press

A substitute and a man returned from injuries sparked Dayton and Kent State to basketball victories Saturday night while third - ranked Ashland maintained its hold as the nation's best small college defensive squad.

George Janky filled in for injured Dayton center Dan Obrovac and dumped in 27 points as the Flyers rolled over Providence 90-63. The 6-foot-8 Chicagoan scored 19 points in the first half for the once-beaten Flyers.

Tom Lagodich returned to the Kent State lineup after missing two games and racked up 21 points in leading the Golden Flahes to an easy 69 - 48 win over Pittsburgh. Lagodich also had eight rebounds.

Ashland allowed only 36 points in winning the championship of the Marion Invitational Basketball Tournament. Kevin Wilson shot for 15 points while Wayne Sololowski had 13 and Jim Williams 10 as the Eagles downed Grove City of Pennsylvania 48-36.

Ohio State set a school record in sinking 38 free throws on its way to a 84-69 win over Washington State. Junior center Dave Sorenson led the Buckeyes with 24 points. Jim Cleamons had 17 and Steve Howell 13.

John McElroy pumped in 46 points as Youngstown State clobbered Hiram 86-58. McElroy hit on 22 of 35 shots from the field and added two free throws as the Penguins, the nation's tenth ranked small college team, won their fifth straight game of the season.

Senator Hart Rumored For Commissioner Post

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — The search for a baseball commissioner acceptable to both the American and National Leagues began today and rumor's first production was Sen. Phillip Hart of Michigan.

The name of Hart, a friend of baseball, popped out of Washington, D.C., for the $100,000-a-year job which was left up in the air by club owners dedicated to create a new image for the game.

After 19 ballots and 14 hours, the baseball brass failed to agree and wearily ended with a stalemate at 6:15 a.m., EST, Saturday.

The balloting to select a successor for the dismissed Gen. William Eckert was diffused by at least six candidates and all but one of them now appear to be out of the picture altogether. Possibly, the lone remaining hopeful in the group is career baseball man Lee MacPhail, Eckert's first assstant who resigned to become vice president of the New York Yankees.

It was a tug-o-war between the traditionalist, Chub Feeney, and the so-called Young Turk ringleader, suave Mike Burke, through 10 ballots.

Feeney, vice president of the San Francisco Giants and a nephew of the club's owner, Horace Stoneham, had the required minimum of nine NL votes but couldn't swing it through the AL. Burke, president of the Yankees, couldn't putt it through the NL.

With this checkmate, presumably both contenders now are out of the race. Also gone from the list, if the balloting is a criterion, are Joe Cronin, AL president and Circut Judge Robert Cannon of Milwaukee, former player counsel.

In the late balloting, John McHale became a compromise choice of the AL which gave him nine votes. McHale, former Eckert executive and general manager of the Detroit Tigers and Mlwaukee-Atlanta Braves, decided to stay as head man of the new Montreal Expos.

He withdrew from the commissioner race without even giving his NL colleagues a chance to vote on him.

Finally, it got down to MacPhail. It looked as if he were on the move in the 18th ballot, getting nine AL votes and four from the NL. But on the 19th ballot, three of his four NL backers passed.

"The owners just thought that by this time they were too tired and thought-weary, and this just wasn't the way to select a commissioner," said spokesman Frank Dale, Cincinnati Reds president. "That's when we adjourned. They stuck it out as long as they could. They really wanted to get the job done.

"Now, I expect, it will be 30 or 40 days before we meet again."

Plays 48 Minutes

Chamberlain Stands Out As Lakers Down 76ers

Wilt Chamberlain got his wish to play 48 minutes, and it turned out to be not a minute too many.

The outspoken center for Los Angeles, whose opinions over his amount of playing time and other matters has made headlines, played all 48 minutes Sunday night and sparkled in the Lakers' 102-99 victory over Philadelphia.

Dominating play, Chamberlain scored 17 points, grabbed 22 rebounds and blocked four shots as the Lakers took a 75-63 lead in the third period and then held off the 76ers.

On Saturday night, Baltimore tripped Phoenix 131-117, San Francisco clobbered Philadelphia 109-94, Boston defeated Chicago 102-94, New York mauled Seattle 131-105, San Diego whipped Cincinnati 132-124 and Atlanta tumbled Detroit 120-110.

In the American Basketball Association Sunday, Dallas defeated Houston 111-105, Indiana trounced New York 125-110 and Denver blitzed New Orleans 122-96. Kentucky at Minnesota was postponed by a storm.

A 19-8 spurt in seven minutes of the third quarter sent Los Angeles on top after a 55-53 halftime deficit. Three times Philadelphia closed within two points, but never caught up as the second-place 76ers fell 2½ games behnd Baltimore in the Eastern Division. The Lakers lead the West by five games.

Jerry West had 27 points for Los Angeles and Elgin Baylor 20.

Australia May Use Teen-Ager In Davis

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

ADELAIDE, Australia (AP) — Donald Dell, U.S. Davis Cup captain, said today he believes his rival Harry Hopman is using 17-year-old John Alexander as a smoke screen in tennis preparations for this week's Challenge Round.

"If I had a million dollars I would bet Hop doesn't use Alexander in the singles," Dell said. "I am convinced the Australians will go with their two experienced players, Ray Ruffels and Bill Bowrey.

"What they will do in the doubles I don't know. I suspect this will depend on how the first two singles come out."

The wily, 52-year-old Hopman, who is captaining the Australian team for the 21st time, has been high on Alexander, baby of the Aussie team, hinting that the hard serving teen-ager is likely to play one of the two single positions with Ruffels almost a cinch for the other.

"Alexander is continuing to show excellent form and improving each day", Hopman said after a Monday workout. "Bowrey, on the other hand, is not playing at his best."

Matches between the challenging Americans and Cup-holding Australians begin with the opennig singles on the lightning-fast Memorial Drive Courts Thursday starting at 13:15 local time (10:45 p.m., Wed. EST).

The draw will be made Christmas day at 15:30 local time (1 a.m. EST).

The question is whether Alexander, who would be the youngest player in the 68-year history of the Cup to play a Challenge Round, has the court poise and all-round game to match America's two top aces, Arthur Ashe Jr. and Clark Graebner, both Davis Cup veterans.

Duffy Retains Lead In Cage Yogi Chase

Bob Duffy maintained a two-game lead in the Review Cage Yogi race by posting an 8-2 mark over the weekend, the same as his closest pursuer, Turk Pierce.

Rose Nuzzo went 7-3, while Bob Shaffer, Lorin Howard, Chuck Campbell and Pete Weaver all went 6-4. The consensus was 8-2.

Duffy was the only Yogi to pick Western Beaver's 59-47 win over Beaver Local. All the seers missed on Oak Glen's 67-60 win over Morgantown. Nuzzo missed on Leetonia's 68-67 double overtime win over Jackson-Milton. Duffy and Weaver fell on Leetonia's 71-62 loss to Poland.

Weaver also missed East Liverpool's 60-48 win over Cambridge. The trio of Shaffer, Campbell and Howard fell with East Liverpool in its 49-43 overtime loss to Aliquippa and East Palestine in its 61-52 loss to Lisbon.

Shutters Can 'Dress Up' A House

You can use them to dress up your house in a very decorative manner or in a very functional but attractive manner.

Even some department stores are stocking them in the same department in which they carry draperies and Venetian blinds and window shades.

SHUTTERS go back hundreds of years but they are as eye-catching and functional now as they ever were. With a few louvered panels picked up at the lumber yard you can make shutters for your house quite easily.

But shutters for your windows is only one use for louvered panels. You can use them as doors for wardrobes and closets, as window blinds, as folding screens and as room dividers.

Make your front door look larger by placing a narrow full-length panel on each side. Fit them up with the proper hardware so that they are working shutters on your windows instead of being merely decorative.

Place them on the inside of a window — several narrow panels hinged so that you can fold them open part way or all the way — and use them instead of conventional blinds. Use short panels and have separate sets for top and bottom instead of one that is the full height of the window.

FOR A closet you can hang them on conventional hinges and turn them into ordinary doors. Or you can slide them on an overhead track and turn them into sliding doors or equip them with special hinges so that the suspended door also folds up requiring little space.

Three or more can be put together to make a folding screen. Use double - acting hinges for best results. With these, each panel can fold in either direction, allowing you to set up a screen in the most suitable shape.

Screens should be made of panels about six feet high. Use at least threee hinges between panels. Fasten with screws after predrilling the holes.

USE ordinary butt hinges for panels you are mounting on windows and doors. So that the panels will fold instead of opening straight out, fasten narrow panels together with butt hinges.

For your kitchen get a pair about 24 inches high and make some cafe - type short doors. Mount them on special hinges so that they can swing either way.

Light Thrown On Repair Of Lamps

And if one is flickering, it is not only annoying but hazardous. Defective lamps can be repaired easily and they should be repaired quickly so that they do not cause fire hazards.

Aside from the fancy base and shade, floor and table lamps are basically the same, electrically speaking. There are three parts where you can look for trouble (assuming the bulb is all right)—the plug, the cord built-in switch.

FIRST ITEM to check is the plug since this is the most frequent source of trouble. The problem is that the plug is not making good contact in the outlet.

Try bending the prongs apart for a firmer grip in the outlet. Check the terminal screws to make certain that the wires are not loose or off altogether.

Sometimes prongs will work loose or terminal screws will not hold. If the plug is the root of these problems or is doubtful in any way, replace it.

If the wire is badly frayed or if many of the fine copper wires are broken off, cut the plug and that end of the wire away and start with a fresh end of wire.

—:—

IF THE cord is fabric - covered, remove about two inches of the fabric without disturbing the rubber insulation on the two wires inside. If it is the flat rubber - covered kind, then pull apart about two inches of wire so that you have two separate strands. Then strip off about a half-inch of insulation from each wire. Do not cut through the wire itself.

Thread both parts of the cord through the plug and tie a knot through the plug.

Loop each strand of wire around one of the prongs and then wrap the exposed strands clockwise around the nearest terminal screw. Bare wires should not touch each other nor the prongs, nor should they stick out from under the screws.

FOR THE thin rubber-covered wires there are plugs that require no stripping of wires, no connecting to terminal screws. The prongs open up, the wire is run into the plug and the prongs are squeezed closed. Barbs on the prongs pierce the wire, making contact.

Any lamp cord that shows signs of damage, fraying, breaking, etc., should be replaced. If the lamp flickers on and off when the cord is moved, there is a hidden break in the cord. Replace it.

Sockets are the last item to wear out. When they do, replace them rather than trying to repair them. You can find one to match the original very easily.

Make certain the cord is disconnected before taking the old one apart. There will be a point on the socket which you press to take it apart. With the socket open, check for a loose connection or a broken wire. If the trouble is not apparent, then replace the socket.

THERE IS A TREND for homes to invoke the charm and warmth of the great hones of the past. This plan, HA573P, recalls the Early American Colonial homes, while serving contemporary needs of a young, growing family. The two bedrooms on the second floor can be added to the three bedrooms on the first floor at a later time. The upstairs bath lines up, economically, with the bath below. The entrance foyer provides access to all rooms of the house, so you don't need to cross one room to get to another. Access to the kitchen is convenient from both the foyer and the garage. The home, which contains 1,787 square feet on the first floor and 572 on the second floor, can be placed on the site so that either its short or long dimension faces the street. Architect is Samuel Paul, 89-30 161 St., Jamaica, N.Y.

'Ready-Mix' Job Suggested For Bottom Of Door

AP Newsfeatures

There is a considerable space —about three inches — from the bottom of the door to the concrete threshold under it. My wife insists that I close up that space because of the possibility that rodents may crawl into the basement.

I'm afraid it would be too much trouble trying to attach a metal or rubber strip to the bottom of the door — or to put a wooden saddle on the concrete. Is there any other solution?

ANSWER: There's really no sound reason why you can't do either of the two things you think would be too much trouble. The use of screws made especially for use in metal or of so - called concrete nails would enable you to solve the problem. However, if you still think you would not like to tackle it, why not build up the concrete until it reaches the bottom of the door.

Use a ready - mixed concrete or sand mix, to which only water need be added. In applying the mixture, smooth it so there is a slight crown at the point where it meets the bottom of the door.

Use only enough water to make the mixture workable, otherwise the addition will crumble or flake later on. After it has set for several hours, sprinkle it with water — and repeat this sprinkling twice a day for five or six days.

QUESTION: I used shellac on a coffee table about three years ago. It is getting kind of seedy in appearance and I would like to refinish it. Can I use varnish right over the shellac? And will I have to take off the old finish?

—:—

ANSWER: Most varnishes can be used over shellac. Read the label on the container of the varnish you buy. Sand the old shellac to remove any gloss. Apply two coats of varnish. Is it possible that the word "seedy" in this case merely means dirty? If so, wiping with turpentine may be all that is needed.

Celebrity Homes

They're In Planning Stage

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

If you havn't heard of a "Richard Burton house," give the idea time — builders may be thinking about it.

At least one builder is entertaining the idea. He was overheard at a recent home show remarking that perhaps houses should be named for celebrities, "like Richard Burton or Elizabeth Taylor," competition being what it is and all that sort of thing.

On this occasion, the builder was viewing what must be surely home fashion's last roundup of personality rooms built around celebrities.

It seems that everyone has been "done" at least twice, and where do you go from there—to Ed Sullivan's grandchildren, that's where. They, too, had a personality room decorated for them in this show.

BUT IMAGINE the celebrity idea in houses! An enthusiastic husband suggests that he could go for the Liz Taylor house and his wife, a Doris Day - PTA type, freezes in her tracks. Or, perhaps he'd fall for the room-for-room copy of a Brigitte Bardot pad — and you know how far he would get with that idea. (Richard Burton, she would consider.)

Many celebrity rooms have been built around sports figures — baseball, football, hockey players — and in no time we would have rugged ranch houses carrying such labels as Bart Starr (Green Bay) Classic or a Bob Nevin (Rangers) Hideway.

All the while, the sports heroes may be enjoying another kind of comfort in their own homes. Ten to one, Art and Bob would never get to first down or first goal trying to influence a builder. If the house idea followed the celebrity room theme, it would be a far cry from the homey one such sports heroes probably enjoy.

FOR EXAMPLE, if the real Merv Griffin (who must hold the male record for celebrity rooms) could show his own home decorated by his homebody wife, Julann, it would make a tremendous impact.

Mrs. Griffin paints furniture, and is the type who makes her own preserves, wine and soap. She might be a little uncomfortable in some rooms that may be designed for her family.

At one point, a kitchen was designed for a movie star, who is also high on the list of celebrities for whom personality rooms have been designed. The room had two of everything—refrigerators, dishwashers and so on.

The designer explained that extras were for entertaining—one refrigerator held only champagne, wild game, caviar. Cigarettes were in both refrigerators. Why? So they would be handy when the star was pouring champagne.

Feminine wiles would be used to dissuade a husband bent on plunging into a house deal labeled "the Princess Grace Chateau" or "Sophia Loren Palazzo."

". . . how can I live in a chateau or palazzo in this old tweed coat?" she might wail. Or, "why would I choose an Elizabeth Taylor house when I don't have a jewel box to call my own?"

But no matter what they call it — builders being builders—the changes that would occur to lure potential buyers would be minor, such innovations perhaps as fake fur walls or jewel-encrusted fixtures in the bathroom. It would be a nuisance ripping them out.

You Can Give Front Door A Custom Look

By DOUGLAS TUOMEY

The average low- or middle-priced house does not usually have the very best or most attractive hardware put in it when it is being built. No place is this more evident than on the front door.

Many home owners in a long line of look-alike dwellings have envied the heavy, solid look of the hardware on custom-built homes. They also have found that the wrought - iron strap hinges ad large lock plates cost a pretty penny and cannot be easily installed by an amateur.

Be that as it may, any home owner can give his front door that custom look if he can afford to spend a dollar or so on a few feet of one - quarter-inch presswood or other hardwood.

First, spot the kind of strap hinges and door plate that you admire. Next, draw an outline on the board and than cut it out with a scroll saw. The same applies to a lock plate.

Having finished with the cutting, the imitation hinges and plate receive a heavy coat of black enamel and are then tacked with brads to the front door. As all front doors open inward, it is no job at all to attach the hinges where they belong. Actually, not one person in a hundred would ever detect the fact that the hinges were anything except the real thing.

No doubt everyone has seen cutouts of dogs, numbers and names on lawns all over the countryside, and the hinges mentioned above are just items made in the same manner but used to decorate the door instead of the lawn. It goes without saying that the real hinges do not have to be touched.

Surface Preparation Called Key To Painting Of Kitchen

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

Although it usually is smaller than most other rooms in the house, the kitchen is the most difficult to paint.

Or, to be more accurate, it is the most difficult to prepare for painting — and it is the surface preparation that determines, to a large degree, the success of the project.

It is rare indeed when the walls and ceiling of a kitchen do not have to be washed thoroughly before painting.

If the grease and dirt that normally accumulate on the kitchen walls and ceiling are not removed, the new paint will not adhere or, if it does, the grease will work its way to the surface weeks or months later.

Generally, a little scrubbing with a mild detergent and water will remove all trace of grease and dirt, but stubborn cases may require one of the special soaps made for this purpose and available in hardware and paint stores.

All cracks and crevices should be filled with spackling compound or patching plaster. Such patches should be touched up with a sealer before painting. However, a few of the newer paints are said not to require such a sealer, so read the label on the paint can to determine whether it is necessary.

Since paint will not adhere to overly slick surfaces, any high gloss remaining from the previous paint job should be dulled with fine sandpaper or coated with a special liquid compound.

Semi - gloss and gloss enamels are preferred for kitchens because they stand up so well under repeated washings and because they prevent moisture vapor from entering the walls. Semigloss coatings, once available only in oil paints, now come in odorless paints and latexes, among others.

Also, many housewives prefer to stay with the same flat paints used in other rooms in the house. In that event, it is doubly important that a top quality paint be selected, since it is likely to be more washable and stain - resistant than a cheap grade.

Should you use an odorless paint, remember that you must also use an odorless thinner, preferably of the same brand. If you use turpentine, mineral spirits or any similar thinner, you will have added a smell and defeated the entire purpose of buying that particular type of paint.

Enamel should be flowed onto the surface. Fill the brush generously and flow it on in long, smooth strokes.

Do not refill the brush, but cross-stroke over the covered area. Then, with the almost dry brush, stroke along and smooth again. This method will prevent runs or snags. The same principle holds true if you use a roller. Mohair rollers are especially good for applying enamel.

Group Will Take 'Treat' To Home

HIGHLANDTOWN — Members of the WSCS of the Highlandtown United Methodist Church will meet tonight at 6:30 to take fruit, cookies and gifts to the Town and Country Rest Home in Salineville.

During a meeting last week at the home of Mrs. Margaret Dunlap of Skyview Acres, Wellsville, the group collected gifts for the home.

A program entitled "Christmas," was offered by Mrs. Katherine Leatherberry, leader. A gift exchange was held between "secret sisters" and names of new "sisters" were chosen.

Several holiday readings were given.

Lunch was served by Mrs. Dunlap and Mrs. Nadine Leatherberry.

Mrs. Verla Culp will be the program leader for January.

Insulation Cuts Fuel Cost

Modern homes are so well insulated that no one gives the matter a second thought. But there are old homes on the market, good buys and soundly constructed, that lack insulation.

And in many new homes there is unused space that you may wish to finish into a living area which will then need insulation.

Even if you cannot fully insulate a home, even partial insulation will make a substantial savings in your fuel bill.

There are many types of insulation available, but choice will depend on which is easiest to install in a particular circumstance.

IN ADDITION to the insulation itself, remember the importance of a vapor barrier. This may be an integral part of the insulation or it may have to be installed separately.

The vapor barrier is installed on the warm side of the insulation to prevent condensation within the framework and walls of the house.

It may consist of polyethylene film, aluminum foil or even oil- or rubber - base paint applied on the inside walls, thereby sealing them.

Insulation is available as loose fill material — rock wool, fiberglass, vermiculite or wood-pulp fibers; batts — solid material covered on one or both sides with a paper that serves as a vapor barrier; blankets—batts made in rolls instead of individual pieces; reflective insulation — a metal foil or foil-covered surface which insulates by turning back heat by reflection. You can find combinations of the reflective and batting type insulations.

ROOFS are insulated if you plan to occupy the attic; otherwise leave the roof alone. Instead, insulate the floor in the attic to protect the living space below.

To insulate roofs where the living space directly below is occupied, use batts or blankets. Fit them between the studs and rafters and nail or staple them in place.

Insulation of this type, including the reflective insulation, is made to fit into standard stud spaces. A finished wall surface must then go over it.

In an unoccupied attic it is cheaper and easier to insulate the floor. Use a loose fill of rock wool or vermiculite. Place a vapor barrier between the studs as the first step. Then pour in the insulation. Three or four inches will do.

Finished walls offer too many problems for do-it-yourself insulation. Best bet is to call in professionals to blow loose fill into the space in the walls.

ONLY IF you are remodeling should you consider doing outside walls yourself. In this case you may plan to knock out the interior of the old walls anyway. If you do, install blanket insulation.

Floors over crawl spaces or closed - in porches that are not over a basement should be insulated for greater comfort. Use blanket insulation between the joists below. The vapor barrier side of the insulation should face up.

If access to the underside is not available, have loose insulation blown in.

Shutters Can 'Dress Up' A House

Shutters, or louvered doors—call them what you will — are very much in right now.

You can use them to dress up your house in a very decorative manner or in a very functional but attractive manner.

Almost every lumber yard carries unfinished louvered doors in a variety of sizes that you can easily trim to fit a particular situation.

SHUTTERS go back hundreds of years but they are as eye-catching and functional now as they ever were. With a few louvered panels picked up at the lumber yard you can make shutters for your house quite easily.

But shutters for your windows is only one use for louvered panels. You can use them as doors for wardrobes and closets, as window blinds, as folding screens and as room dividers.

Make your front door look larger by placing a narrow full-length panel on each side. Fit them up with the proper hardware so that they are working shutters on your windows instead of being merely decorative.

Place them on the inside of a window — several narrow panels hinged so that you can fold them open part way or all the way — and use them instead of conventional blinds. Use short panels and have separate sets for top and bottom instead of one that is the full height of the window.

FOR A closet you can hang them on conventional hinges and turn them into ordinary doors. Or you can slide them on an overhead track and turn them into sliding doors or equip them with special hinges so that the suspended door also folds up requiring little space.

Three or more can be put together to make a folding screen. Use double - acting hinges for best results. With these, each panel can fold in either direction, allowing you to set up a screen in the most suitable shape.

Screens should be made of panels about six feet high. Use at least threee hinges between panels. Fasten with screws after predrilling the holes.

USE ordinary butt hinges for panels you are mounting on windows and doors. So that the panels will fold instead of opening straight out, fasten narrow panels together with butt hinges.

For your kitchen get a pair about 24 inches high and make some cafe - type short doors. Mount them on special hinges so that they can swing either way.

Some louvered panels are made just for this purpose and have scroll-cut designs top and bottom. Or make your own.

Light Thrown On Repair Of Lamps

And if one is flickering, it is not only annoying but hazardous. Defective lamps can be repaired easily and they should be repaired quickly so that they do not cause fire hazards.

Aside from the fancy base and shade, floor and table lamps are basically the same, electrically speaking. There are three parts where you can look for trouble (assuming the bulb is all right)—the plug, the cord built-in switch.

FIRST ITEM to check is the plug since this is the most frequent source of trouble. The problem is that the plug is not making good contact in the outlet.

Try bending the prongs apart for a firmer grip in the outlet. Check the terminal screws to make certain that the wires are not loose or off altogether.

Sometimes prongs will work loose or terminal screws will not hold. If the plug is the root of these problems or is doubtful in any way, replace it.

If the wire is badly frayed or if many of the fine copper wires are broken off, cut the plug and that end of the wire away and start with a fresh end of wire.

IF THE cord is fabric - covered, remove about two inches of the fabric without disturbing the rubber insulation on the two wires inside. If it is the flat rubber - covered kind, then pull apart about two inches of wire so that you have two separate strands. Then strip off about a half-inch of insulation from each wire. Do not cut through the wire itself.

Thread both parts of the cord through the plug and tie a knot through the plug.

Loop each strand of wire around one of the prongs and then wrap the exposed strands clockwise around the nearest terminal screw. Bare wires should not touch each other nor the prongs, nor should they stick out from under the screws.

FOR THE thin rubber-covered wires there are plugs that require no stripping of wires, no connecting to terminal screws. The prongs open up, the wire is run into the plug and the prongs are squeezed closed. Barbs on the prongs pierce the wire, making contact.

Any lamp cord that shows signs of damage, fraying, breaking, etc., should be replaced. If the lamp flickers on and off when the cord is moved, there is a hidden break in the cord. Replace it.

Sockets are the last item to wear out. When they do, replace them rather than trying to repair them. You can find one to match the original very easily.

Make certain the cord is disconnected before taking the old one apart. There will be a point on the socket which you press to take it apart. With the socket open, check for a loose connection or a broken wire. If the trouble is not apparent, then replace the socket.

THERE IS A TREND for homes to invoke the charm and warmth of the great hones of the past. This plan, HA573P, recalls the Early American Colonial homes, while serving contemporary needs of a young, growing family. The two bedrooms on the second floor can be added to the three bedrooms on the first floor at a later time. The upstairs bath lines up, economically, with the bath below. The entrance foyer provides access to all rooms of the house, so you don't need to cross one room to get to another. Access to the kitchen is convenient from both the foyer and the garage. The home, which contains 1,787 square feet on the first floor and 572 on the second floor, can be placed on the site so that either its short or long dimension faces the street. Architect is Samuel Paul, 89-30 161 St., Jamaica, N.Y.

'Ready-Mix' Job Suggested For Bottom Of Door

AP Newsfeatures

There is a considerable space —about three inches — from the bottom of the door to the concrete threshold under it. My wife insists that I close up that space because of the possibility that rodents may crawl into the basement.

I'm afraid it would be too much trouble trying to attach a metal or rubber strip to the bottom of the door — or to put a wooden saddle on the concrete. Is there any other solution?

ANSWER: There's really no sound reason why you can't do either of the two things you think would be too much trouble. The use of screws made especially for use in metal or of so - called concrete nails would enable you to solve the problem. However, if you still think you would not like to tackle it, why not build up the concrete until it reaches the bottom of the door.

Use a ready - mixed concrete or sand mix, to which only water need be added. In applying the mixture, smooth it so there is a slight crown at the point where it meets the bottom of the door.

Use only enough water to make the mixture workable, otherwise the addition will crumble or flake later on. After it has set for several hours, sprinkle it with water — and repeat this sprinkling twice a day for five or six days.

QUESTION: I used shellac on a coffee table about three years ago. It is getting kind of seedy in appearance and I would like to refinish it. Can I use varnish right over the shellac? And will I have to take off the old finish?

—:—

ANSWER: Most varnishes can be used over shellac. Read the label on the container of the varnish you buy. Sand the old shellac to remove any gloss. Apply two coats of varnish. Is it possible that the word "seedy" in this case merely means dirty? If so, wiping with turpentine may be all that is needed.

Celebrity Homes

They're In Planning Stage

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

If you havn't heard of a "Richard Burton house," give the idea time — builders may be thinking about it.

At least one builder is entertaining the idea. He was overheard at a recent home show remarking that perhaps houses should be named for celebrities, "like Richard Burton or Elizabeth Taylor," competition being what it is and all that sort of thing.

On this occasion, the builder was viewing what must be surely home fashion's last roundup of personality rooms built around celebrities.

It seems that everyone has been "done" at least twice, and where do you go from there—to Ed Sullivan's grandchildren, that's where. They, too, had a personality room decorated for them in this show.

BUT IMAGINE the celebrity idea in houses! An enthusiastic husband suggests that he could go for the Liz Taylor house and his wife, a Doris Day - PTA type, freezes in her tracks. Or, perhaps he'd fall for the room-for-room copy of a Brigitte Bardot pad — and you know how far he would get with that idea. (Richard Burton, she would consider.)

Many celebrity rooms have been built around sports figures — baseball, football, hockey players — and in no time we would have rugged ranch houses carrying such labels as Bart Starr (Green Bay) Classic or a Bob Nevin (Rangers) Hideway.

Imagine a housewife who is bored to tears with her husband's table - to - television fall and winter weekend hangup, being charmed with that idea—a constant reminder, even in summer, of his football and hockey favorites.

"We'll put that table right over there, dear, near the goalie's cage," he might say, absentmindedly revealing that her dream house is really a deluxe ice cube.

All the while, the sports heroes may be enjoying another kind of comfort in their own homes. Ten to one, Art and Bob would never get to first down or first goal trying to influence a builder. If the house idea followed the celebrity room theme, it would be a far cry from the homey one such sports heroes probably enjoy.

FOR EXAMPLE, if the real Merv Griffin (who must hold the male record for celebrity rooms) could show his own home decorated by his homebody wife, Julann, it would make a tremendous impact.

Mrs. Griffin paints furniture, and is the type who makes her own preserves, wine and soap. She might be a little uncomfortable in some rooms that may be designed for her family.

At one point, a kitchen was designed for a movie star, who is also high on the list of celebrities for whom personality rooms have been designed. The room had two of everything—refrigerators, dishwashers and so on.

The designer explained that extras were for entertaining—one refrigerator held only champagne, wild game, caviar. Cigarettes were in both refrigerators. Why? So they would be handy when the star was pouring champagne.

You see how personalized things can get. But how many people need such conveniences?

Feminine wiles would be used to dissuade a husband bent on plunging into a house deal labeled "the Princess Grace Chateau" or "Sophia Loren Palazzo."

". . . how can I live in a chateau or palazzo in this old tweed coat?" she might wail. Or, "why would I choose an Elizabeth Taylor house when I don't have a jewel box to call my own?"

But no matter what they call it — builders being builders—the changes that would occur to lure potential buyers would be minor, such innovations perhaps as fake fur walls or jewel-encrusted fixtures in the bathroom. It would be a nuisance ripping them out.

Mixup In Luggage Leads To Marriage

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — A mixup in luggage led to wedding bells for David De Long and Joyce Reed, a teacher here.

When De Long boarded a plane in Columbus, Ohio, he noticed his bags were ticketed to Louisville instead of Nashville. He straightened out the error, returned to the plane and found only one seat empty—next to Miss Reed.

They struck up a conversation and it was enough to launch a courtship. Ten months later the couple married.

Denver Tops New Orleans In ABA Play

The tall and the short of Denver's new defense in the American Basketball Association are 6-foot-9 Wayne Hightower and 6-2 Lonnie Wright, and both looked just the right size against New Orleans.

In a strange switch, Rocket Coach Bob Bass put Hightower on 6-4 Jimmy Jones, New Orleans' high scoring guard, and Wright on 6-7 Ron Franz, and the result was Denver's 122-96 victory over the Bucs Sunday night.

Hightower held Jones to 17 points, 11 below his average, and Franz managed only 15 as the Rockets took a 31-20 first quarter lead and gradually increased it. Larry Jones finished with 29 points for the Rockets.

In the NBA Sunday, Los Angeles nudged Philadelphia 102-99 and Milwaukee whipped Phoenix 127-116.

Indiana had little trouble with the Nets, who played without three flu-stricken players. The Pacers outscored New York 37-20 in the second quarter for a 64-44 halftime lead that settled the issue. Bob Netolicky had 25 points and Mel Daniels scored 19 and grabbed 20 rebounds for Indiana.

Elton McGriff came off the bench in the second quarter when John Smith picked up his fourth foul, and McGriff scored 20 points for Dallas. Willie Somerset had 32 for Houston.

Rules Horse Was Drugged

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—The Kentucky Racing Commission today upheld the stewards at Churchill Downs in disqualifying Dancer's Image from the winner's purse in the 1968 Kentucky Derby. The commission, after hearing 14 days of testimony, agreed with the stewards that the colt, owned by Boston sportsman Peter Fuller, had phenylbutazone or a derivative of the drug in his system during the running of the May 4 Derby.

Phenylbutazone, which a Churchill Downs chemist said was found in the colt's urine after the race, is an illegal medication under Kentucky racing rules.

Arthur Grafton, an attorney for Fuller indicated an appeal might be made to the courts, but said no final decision would be made until he talked to Fuller.

Fuller was reported in Boston.

"While the commission is announcing its decision today," Egger said, "the final order for the purpose of appeal . . will not be entered until detailed findings of fact and conclusions of law have been prepared, adopted and filed by the commission.

"The time for the taking of any such appeal will not begin to run until the entry of that final order," Egger said.

Grafton immediately asked for a complete transcript of the commission's hearing to be prepared and attested by the commission. He said that was the first step in an appeal if one were to be made.

Desert State In India To Go Completely Dry

JAIPUR, India (AP) — The desert state of Rajasthan will go completely dry in five years, chief minister Mohanlal Sukhadia has announced.

The 132,000 square mile state with 20 million people will have liquor shops throughout the state closed one day a week next year. It will be two days a week in 1970-71, four days in 1971-72, all but one day in 1972-73 and none at all open from the next year on.

"If there is one state in India where throats get parched to death it is this desert state," a paper said, lamenting this decision.

Mixup In Luggage Leads To Marriage

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — A mixup in luggage led to wedding bells for David De Long and Joyce Reed, a teacher here.

When De Long boarded a plane in Columbus, Ohio, he noticed his bags were ticketed to Louisville instead of Nashville. He straightened out the error, returned to the plane and found only one seat empty—next to Miss Reed.

They struck up a conversation and it was enough to launch a courtship. Ten months later the couple married.

Denver Tops New Orleans In ABA Play

The tall and the short of Denver's new defense in the American Basketball Association are 6-foot-9 Wayne Hightower and 6-2 Lonnie Wright, and both looked just the right size against New Orleans.

In a strange switch, Rocket Coach Bob Bass put Hightower on 6-4 Jimmy Jones, New Orleans' high scoring guard, and Wright on 6-7 Ron Franz, and the result was Denver's 122-96 victory over the Bucs Sunday night.

Hightower held Jones to 17 points, 11 below his average, and Franz managed only 15 as the Rockets took a 31-20 first quarter lead and gradually increased it. Larry Jones finished with 29 points for the Rockets.

In other ABA games, Indiana trounced the New York Nets 125-110, and Dallas beat Houston 111-105. Kentucky at Minnesota was postponed because of a storm.

On Saturday night, Indiana stopped Kentucky 114-97, Miami edged Minnesota 103-99, Los Angeles tripped Denver 124-119 in overtime, Dallas hammered Houston 130-103, and Oakland blasted New Orleans 144-124.

Indiana had little trouble with the Nets, who played without three flu-stricken players. The Pacers outscored New York 37-20 in the second quarter for a 64-44 halftime lead that settled the issue. Bob Netolicky had 25 points and Mel Daniels scored 19 and grabbed 20 rebounds for Indiana.

Elton McGriff came off the bench in the second quarter when John Smith picked up his fourth foul, and McGriff scored 20 points for Dallas. Willie Somerset had 32 for Houston.

Two Invest $42,000 To Bottle Sea Water

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Two white South African businessmen have invested Rands 30,000 ($42,000) in a project to bottle sea water and sell it to Africans living inland. Sea King Seawater Distributors (Pty) Ltd., plans to sell a 26-ounce plastic bottle for about 45 South African cents ($.63).

Many Africans believe sea water has religious properties as well as purgative and emetic powers. The merchandisers say it is not acceptable unless it has a handful of sand from the sea bed at the bottom of each bottle. They expect to sell more than 100,000 bottles a month.

Rules Horse Was Drugged

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—The Kentucky Racing Commission today upheld the stewards at Churchill Downs in disqualifying Dancer's Image from the winner's purse in the 1968 Kentucky Derby. The commission, after hearing 14 days of testimony, agreed with the stewards that the colt, owned by Boston sportsman Peter Fuller, had phenylbutazone or a derivative of the drug in his system during the running of the May 4 Derby.

Phenylbutazone, which a Churchill Downs chemist said was found in the colt's urine after the race, is an illegal medication under Kentucky racing rules.

Arthur Grafton, an attorney for Fuller indicated an appeal might be made to the courts, but said no final decision would be made until he talked to Fuller.

Fuller was reported in Boston.

George Egger, racing commission chairman, said the final order redistributing the Derby purse would be entered "shortly."

"While the commission is announcing its decision today," Egger said, "the final order for the purpose of appeal . . will not be entered until detailed findings of fact and conclusions of law have been prepared, adopted and filed by the commission.

"The time for the taking of any such appeal will not begin to run until the entry of that final order," Egger said.

Grafton immediately asked for a complete transcript of the commission's hearing to be prepared and attested by the commission. He said that was the first step in an appeal if one were to be made.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

On this date:

In 1805, the Mormon leader, Josph Smith, was born in Sharon, Vt.

In 1948, former Premier Hideki Tojo of Japan and six other war leaders of that country were executed in Tokyo.

In 1962, the first of 1,113 prisonrs captured in the Bay of Pigs invasion of Cuba began arriving in Miami in an airlift that followed payment of ransom.

Junior Editors Quiz on ANT COWS

QUESTION: Do ants really raise ant cows?

An ant "cow" is an aphid, a kind of soft-bodied little insect which lives by sucking the juices from plants. The aphid's body produces a sweet fluid called honeydew, and this is the "milk" the ant is after. By stroking the aphid's body, the ant makes honeydew pour from tubes on the aphid's back; then the ant licks up the fluid. Ants carry their "cows" around and plant them in places where much honeydew will be produced. They also make ant farms near the home ant nest. Ants defend the aphids from enemies. Sometimes they take their "cows" into the ant nest in winter to care for them. One kind of ant, after having kept aphids in the nest over the winter, clears dirt from the roots of corn plants and puts the aphids on the roots to make honeydew. Plants may be damaged in this way.

(Tim Iafrate of Midland, Mich., wins a prize for this question. You can win $10 cash plus AP's handsome World Yearbook if your question, mailed on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of this newspaper, is selected for a prize.)

Five years ago—At least 977 persons who had abandoned the burning Greek liner "Lakonia" in the eastern Atlantic were picked up. Twenty-four bodies were recovered. One hundred, thirty-five persons were missing.
